Cuban Airliner, Navy Plane Collide Off Florida Coast; 43 Persons Die

Big Plane Hits Water At 600 MPH

Key West, Fla, (AP) — A big Cuban airliner and a small U.S. Navy plane collided with explosive force over Key West yesterday and spun into the sea, carrying 43 people to their deaths.

Water splashed 50 feet into the air as the transport, with 34 passengers and five crewmen, nosedived with a terrific bang into 20 feet of water. Its speed when it hit the water was estimated at 600 miles.

The Navy plane went to pieces as it fell and crashed into the ocean two miles west of the transport. It carried a four-man crew.

Hundreds of sunbathers saw the planes meet at 4,000 feet altitude with a noise that resembled an explosion. Eyewitnesses at first believed that the Navy plane had blown up while flying alongside the liner.

The four-engined transport, operated by Compania Cubana de Aviacion, left Miami for Havana at 11:03 a.m. bound for Havana with a passenger load that included 25 Americans. The collision occurred about 11:45 a.m.

George and Charles Faraldo, operators of a Key West flying service, looked up as they heard the noise of the collision. They said the left wing of the transport was sheared off opposite the outer engine.

It went into a tight spiral, the Faraldos related, but the pilot managed to pull out with full power. Then it went into a straight nose-dive. As it crashed, water spewed so high into the air they could see it over the treetops at the airport.

The brothers took off in their own plane and were the first to fly over the scene. They said they saw a dozen bodies and parts of bodies on the surface but no wreckage. They dropped life preservers and a dye marker to guide rescue boats.

By 11 p. m., Lt. Clemons C. Pearson, commander of the Coast guard station here, said 19 bodies had been recovered but only nine identified. The condition of some of the bodies, he said, made identification very difficult.

"It was a gruesome mess," Pearson said.

Most of the bodies were recovered by Navy divers. After the 19 had been sent ashore, diving operations were halted and efforts were started to raise the wreckage of the big plane to the surface.

The Navy plane fell immediately after ramming the airliner, but the big plane staggered along on a level course about 50 seconds. In its nosedive, it headed directly toward a group of tourist cottages on the south beach. Then it veered to the left and dropped into the water 1,200 yards offshore.

Frank Rogers, a Key West carpenter and one of the eyewitnesses, said it appeared that the pilot wrestled the plane away from the beach to avoid hitting the crowds of sunbathers.

The big plane disappeared beneath the surface and a Navy crash boat that reached the scene in a few minutes reported there were no survivors. Pieces of wreckage and articles of clothing floated to the surface, then a female body.

Other Navy vessels and a diving crew went out immediately to assist the crash boat.

The body of the woman was the first recovered from the airliner. About two miles away, where the Navy plane fell, the bodies of two of its crewmen were found. Only one was positively identified—Lt. (JG) Robert L. Stuart of Key West.

Navy divers and dredgers were bringing up bodies from the submerged wreckage of the commercial plane.

Pan-American World Airways, with which Compania Cubana de Aviation is affiliated, reported it was the first accident on the Cuban airline in more than 17 years of operation.

Truman To Ask Congress For Authority To Freeze Parity Prices For Year

Washington, (AP)—Legislators said last night the Truman administration plans to ask Congress today for authority to put a year-at-a-time freeze on farm parity prices in a new move to hold food costs down.

Senator Maybank (D-SC), who attended a meeting yesterday with President Truman and his top mobilization command, said the administration also will ask:

One—Tighter rent controls, including ceilings on rents for commercial property.

Two—Subsidies on some imports, perhaps including coffee. (Subsidies are payments by the government of part of the cost in order to hold down the retail price to consumers.)

Three—"Probably" some new restriction on credit, in addition to the installment buying and other curbs already in force.

Such new anti-inflation powers will be asked by the President in a special message proposing extension of the defense production act, which expires in June. It is under this law that the government has imposed wage and price controls and many other economic curbs in the past year.

At present, the law says price ceilings on farm products must not be fixed below parity—a shifting price that rises and falls with the cost of things farmers have to buy.

These parity figures are fixed monthly. Maybank said that Mr. Truman now proposes to set a parity price at the beginning of a crop year and keep it there for the whole of that year.

$6.5 Billion Rearmament Bill Okayed In Committee; Army Cuts June Draft Call

Washington, (AP)—A $6,468,206,000 emergency bill to pay the costs of the stepped-up war in Korea—and fuel the rearmament drive on other fronts—won approval by the House Appropriations committee yesterday.

At the same time it was disclosed that the Army plans to cut its June draft call to 20,000 men, and to bring home upwards of 20,000 battle-tired veterans from Korea each month starting in May.

In May and June, the Army expects to recall 15,000 reserve officers to active service. They will help train an Army expected to total 1,552,000 men on June 30.

These figures were given by top Army spokesmen to the Appropriations committee in closed hearings earlier this month.

The committee made them public as it stamped approval on the emergency funds bill, which includes $46,800,000 for a top secret "project X" which the Atomic Energy commission is in a hurry to carry out.

Details of the secret project were given to the committee off the record and none was made public. The committee obviously agreed that it was necessary and urgent because it voted every cent asked, although trimming $4,500,000 from other atomic energy requests.

The committee now is ready to start work on the regular military budget for the fiscal year starting July 1. Military spokesmen say it may come close to $80,000,000,000.

Draft Term Set At 24 Months

Washington, (AP) — Length of service for draftees was fixed at 24 months — three more than at present — in a decision yesterday by Senate and House conferees working on a compromise of conflicting bills.

In passing separate measures, the Senate approved 24 months and the House 26. The Defense department sought approval of 27 months.

The term of service agreement was the only one reached in yesterday's closed-door session. Another meeting will be held today.

Wilson Tells Of Terrible New Weapons

Washington (AP) — Mobilization Chief Charles E. Wilson said yesterday if this country can stall off a decision by Stalin to attack until 1953, "he'll be a dead duck if he does (then) and he knows it."

Wilson said the nation's mobilization program is beginning to roll in high gear and "it would take the State of Texas to store the stuff coming off our production lines by 1953."

Speaking to regional officials of the Office of Price Stabilization, here for a two-day conference, Wilson said:

"If we could have taken Stalin and Malik (Soviet representative to the United Nations) with us and could have shown him some new weapons we saw yesterday, there would be no fear at all of an all-out third world war."

Wilson disclosed that he was at Wright field in Dayton, Ohio.

He said he saw there "now coming off our production lines—Jets, bombers and reconnaissance planes flying faster than ever before and new bombs devastating beyond anything I ever saw.

"The bombs would make fine calling cards for Joe Stalin and his satellites but I hope we never have to use them.

Fight Extension

Harrisburg, (AP)—Senate Democrats yesterday planned to fight a bill calling for a two-year extension on sewage treatment plant construction orders. The bill is up for final Senate passage next Monday

U. S. Punches Hole In Own Wage Ceiling

Washington (AP)— The government poked a hole in its own wage ceiling yesterday.

Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston approved a six-cent hourly increase for 1,000,000 non-operating railroad workers to offset a cost of living rise.

They would have been entitled to only two or three cents if the government's 10 per cent ceiling on wage increases had been applied tightly.

But an "escalator" clause in their contract called for the six cents, because living costs had gone up.

Johnston bowed to the arguments of a three-man panel that collective bargaining in the railroad industry is "unique" and requires special handling. It takes longer to negotiate a contract because of "lengthy and cumbersome" procedures of the railway labor act, said the panel, which was appointed by Johnston at President Truman's suggestion.

The 1,000,000 non-operating workers—clerks, mechanics, etc.—will begin receiving their six-cent hike next month. The increase becomes effective as of April 1, and all of the April boost will be added to May pay envelopes as rapidly as accounting machines can do the job, a spokesman for the carriers said.

The railroads estimate that the six-cent increase will cost them $129,600,000 a year.

The Johnston action, first in which he has permitted a boost above the 10 per cent allowed under the stabilization formula, poses two immediate questions:

One — How will it affect the wage-hour dispute of the four operating railroad unions—the firemen, engineers, conductors, and trainmen, who are still deadlocked after two years of trying to negotiate contracts? The roads were seized by the Army last August to avert a nationwide strike of the trainmen and conductors.

Two—How will it affect other wage cases awaiting the establishment of a new wage stabilization board. A new 18-man agency, authorized to handle certain types of disputes as well as wage matters, should be set up by next week. One of the first decisions it will have to make will be whether to raise the 10 per cent ceiling.

54 Perverts Quit State Dept. Jobs

Washington, (AP) — The State department told Congress in testimony published yesterday that 54 of its employes resigned last year while under investigation for sexual perversion.

Assistant Secretary Carlisle H. Humelsine said it was "determined" they were homosexuals. In the past four years, he said, there was a total of 144 such resignations. Two were women.

In addition Humelsine said that 14 employes quit or were fired since 1947 as other kinds of "security risks."

Officials said also that thus far this year there have been four separations as a result of investigations into charges of homosexuality.

Formosa Gets U. S. Arms Aid

Washington (AP) — The United States is furnishing military aid to Formosa under an agreement which requires the Chinese Nationalists to use the arms for internal security or "legitimate self defense" only.

This was disclosed yesterday by Secretary of State Acheson, who released the text of the hitherto secret, three-months-old agreement.

Acheson also told a news conference that the government's Formosan policy has not changed in any way since President Truman assigned the Seventh Fleet last June to protect the island against possible Red Chinese invasion.

Formosan policy has been one of the controversial points in the row between President Truman and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Following MacArthur's speech to Congress last week the Defense department announced plans to dispatch a military mission to Formosa. Without reference to MacArthur, Acheson said yesterday that the policy behind this was the same policy declared by Mr. Truman last June.

Funeral Held For Mrs. Fine

Wilkes-Barre, (AP)—Funeral services were held yesterday for Mrs. Helene Morgan Fine, 42-year-old wife of Pennsylvania's Governor.

They were as simple and unassuming as the 42 years of her life.

Mrs. Fine died of a brain tumor Sunday at the University hospital, Philadelphia, after two operations.

Gov. John S. Fine had asked for the reserved ceremony. He sat beside his wife's bier as an Episcopal clergyman intoned the words of the Scripture, "I am the resurrection and the life."

Rev. Harold O. Boone, rector of St. George's Episcopal church, Nanticoke, presided at the funeral services both at the funeral home in downtown Wilkes-Barre and Oak Lawn cemetery on the outskirts of the city.

The funeral services were private, except for the family, a few close friends and an entourage of top State officials who included Cabinet secretaries, jurists and legislators.

The Fines' two young sons, John Jr. 16, and Donald, eight, did not attend.

They remained at the summer executive mansion at Indiantown Gap. Their father went there to be with them when the funeral was ended.

Caldwell Warns Of Mass Attack On U. S. Cities

New York (AP) — The nation's civil defense leader said yesterday Russia has the atom bombs and planes "to assault all our major cities in one attack."

Millard Caldwell, Federal civil defense administrator, urged American newspapers to take quick steps to educate the nation on personal survival under A-bomb attack.

"The brutal truth is that we are confronted with the crisis of crises," Caldwell said in a message read to the 65th annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers association.

"We know that a war may be in the offing. We know that Russia has the planes and bombs to make shambles and slaughter-houses of our major cities."

"Even rudimentary public education on what to do in an atomic attack will save countless casualties," Caldwell said.

Senate GOP Asks All-Out Inquiry Into U. S. Policies

Washington, (AP)—The Senate Republican Policy committee called yesterday for an "all-out" investigation of foreign and military policies linked with the ouster of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) told reporters the GOP group wants an inquiry into policies as far back as the 1945 Yalta conference, with special emphasis on what he called the administration's "encouragement of Chinese Communists."

To get such an inquiry, Taft said, the Republicans will hold in abeyance a resolution by Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) for a joint Senate-House investigation while they watch developments in hearings to be opened May 3 by the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations committees.

MacArthur will be the first witness and Taft said the Republicans will demand that the hearings be public. Senator Russell (D-Ga), chairman of the two-committee inquiry, has said he'd rather the hearings would be closed.

In New York, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, MacArthur's spokesman, said the five-star general has no objection to public hearings or to being televised.

Taft said the Republicans will ask Russell to add four members of the Senate appropriations subcommittee, dealing with armed services affairs, to the present 26-member armed services-foreign relations group.

Russell told reporters last night he is "unalterably opposed" to public hearings and to adding to the size of the committee.

"I think the American people prefer facts to entertainment, however delectable—to entertainment over the radio and television," the Georgia senator said. "It is inconceivable to me that there can be any questioning in public hearings without running into military security.

"One unguarded statement might mean the lives of several thousand boys in Korea."

Russell said that if MacArthur wants to make a general statement in a public hearing, and then submit to questioning behind closed doors, he would consider doing it that way.

The White House said yesterday that telegrams received by the President since his ouster of MacArthur have run about 58 per cent against him and 42 per cent in his support. The mail response shows "a 50-50 break," Presidential Secretary Joseph Short said.

"Later telegrams are running about 3 to 1 in favor of the President's action, Short said. He added that a tabulation through Monday showed receipt of 70,000 to 75,000 letters and about 20,000 telegrams

May Quarantine Reds

Washington, (AP) — Ambassador Warren Austin, U. S. representative to the United Nations, has hinted to Congress that the UN may consider quarantining Communist China as a new attempt to halt Soviet-backed aggression in Korea.

Chicagoans To Honor MacArthurs

Chicago, (AP) — Millions from Chicago and the Midwest are expected to turn out today to show General MacArthur he hasn't started fading away in their minds.

Chicago is planning for possibly the greatest demonstration in its history to welcome the five star general on his first visit to the Midwest since his return to the United States last week.

Some are calling it D (for Doug) day. The city will go on a virtual holiday footing. Officials are preparing for a turnout of 3,000,000 spectators.

A double-barreled celebration has been arranged. In the afternoon there will be a 23 - mile parade from the airport to the Loop and through the business district. At night, a mammoth jamboree and fireworks display will be held in Soldier field.

General MacArthur is due to arrive at Midway airport from New York in his plane "Bataan" at 12:30 p. m., accompanied by Mrs. MacArthur and their son, Arthur, 13. The general is expected to speak briefly on his arrival and to deliver a talk at the Soldier field jamboree.

AP Newsman Disappears

Frankfurt, Germany (AP) — William N. Oatis, chief of the Associated Press bureau in Czechoslovakia, disappeared Monday and the U.S. embassy in Prague fears he is under arrest.

The embassy requested yesterday that the Communist government investigate "on the most urgent basis possible." Embassy Counsellor Tyler Thompson took personal charge of efforts to trace Oatis.

Beginning three weeks ago, Czech employes of the AP's Prague bureau began vanishing. Thomas Svoboda, sports reporter and teletypist, Pavel Wodjinek and Peter Muenz dropped out of sight one by one.

"Nobody knows where they are —they're just missing," said a remaining Czech employe who first disclosed Oatis' disappearance to the Associated Press at Frankfurt.

A fourth Czech employe of the bureau was reported missing last night. Russell Jones, the United Press correspondent in Prague, telephoned that translator Vladimir Preclik disappeared the same day Oatis, a 37-year-old former Marion, Ind., newspaperman, disappeared.

Allies Forced To Withdraw Toward Seoul

Tokyo, Thursday (AP) — Chinese Reds poured fresh troops into their western Korea offensive today and forced new Allied withdrawals toward Seoul along a 30-mile sector.

The Communists captured Munsan, 21 miles northwest of Seoul. Munsan is 10 miles south of the 38th parallel on a main highway to Seoul.

An overrun Allied unit was reported fighting its way out of a trap with the aid of tanks that made a rescue linkup. Details were lacking but a field dispatch reported the rescue effort was succeeding.

The five-day-old Red offensive apparently had run out of steam in central Korea. And everywhere the Reds were paying a terrific price.

They lost 7,095 men in killed and wounded by ground action alone yesterday and 1,000 or more were cut down by Allied planes—boosting the Communist casualties well past 25,000 since the big offensive started Sunday.

Reinforced Reds pounded their way seven miles south of the 38th parallel in the west. That put them within 20 miles of Seoul, war-ravaged capital already being deserted by civilians.

In the mountainous center, where the Reds had blasted a gaping hole, fresh Allied troops not only sealed it but dealt armored counter-punches.

Field dispatches today said there appeared to be no immediate threat of more Red breakthroughs anywhere across the 100-mile front.

The Allies were reported making planned withdrawals under cover of thunderous artillery barrages. This has been described by Army officers as "rolling with the punch" every day since the Reds first struck.

Today's Eighth Army communique emphasized that heavy losses were being inflicted on the Reds everywhere the opposing forces were in contact.

But the Reds kept coming, heedless of losses. Five trains and 1,400 trucks were spotted rolling southward into the Red lines.

An estimated 18,000 Reds were killed in three days—to noon Wednesday—by Allied air and ground action. That estimate did not include wounded.

A field dispatch said that possibly half of 33 Chinese Red divisions which struck in western Korea were badly mauled.

The Chinese assault on the central sector of the 100-mile front was checked four miles north of Kapyong. Kapyong, 33 miles northeast of Seoul, is on the paved Seoul-Chunchon highway—a main Allied supply artery.

AP Correspondent Jim Becker, on the central front, reported an Allied tank-infantry column lunged back at the Reds pouring down northwest of Chunchon, the road and rail center 45 air miles northeast of Seoul.

The task force swept to within six miles of Parallel 38, mowed down the Reds and then returned to U. N. lines after running out of ammunition. A second armored force struck north of Kapyong.

Gromyko Tells U. N. Troops To Quit Korean War

Paris, (AP)—Soviet Russia's Andrei Gromyko told western deputies here last night that "there will not be enough room in Korea for the white crosses over the tombs of the interventionist troops" unless United Nations forces are withdrawn.

The Soviet deputy foreign minister was quoted as telling the west at another deadlocked session of the conference that the way to end the Korean war is for the U. N. troops to go home.

This was the 37th session of the deputies of the USSR, France, Britain and the United States in their attempt to draw up an agenda for a foreign ministers' conference to ease international tensions. A western source described the session as mostly a monologue attack on the west by Gromyko.

There were several hot exchanges during which the chairman for the day, Alexander Parodi of France, had to call Gromyko to order.

Dmytryk Breaks Silence

Washington (AP)—Screen director Edward Dmytryk, breaking a silence which sent him to jail in 1950, said yesterday that Communism has tried to capture Hollywood through the guilds and unions there.

Typewriter That Thinks Shown To Newsman; Faster, More Accurate Printing Envisioned

By Howard W. Blakeslee
Associated Press Science Editor

New York, (AP) — A typewriter that thinks was demonstrated yesterday to the American Newspaper Publishers association.

This machine types the same kind and size letters as your portable or office typewriter. Electric impulses change these letters into any size, any style of newspaper type you like. And it comes out, complete, on photographic film, ready for the engraved plate that will print your newspaper.

The typewriter would eliminate all type, all typesetters, all linotype machines, and other equipment involved in the casting of type. Some of these machines weigh thousands of pounds and cost thousands of dollars. The typewriter weighs a pound and a half. No figure on its cost was given.

The purpose is faster, less costly and more accurate printing because of elimination of handling by several printing departments. In the long run, say the producers, the Graphic Arts Research Foundation, Inc., Cambridge, Mass., more and better jobs will result.

The typewriter has seven little fingers, rods of metal, in its back. Each letter or character moves one or more fingers.

The moving finger closes an electric switch, sending current into a calculating machine, or mechanical brain. What happens there is the same as when you dial a phone number, all done with the same kind of electrical gadgets.

Next step is transmission of this electrical control to a small whirling disc. On the border of the disc are eight circular rows of letters. The eight contain 16 alphabets and the characters, such as commas, that go to make an alphabet complete for printing in English.

Each letter is transparent. A flashing light shines through whichever letter the typewriter chooses. Lenses focus this letter on photographic film, and that completes the job.

The apparatus attached to the typewriter to do all this is about the size of two family refrigerators.

The machine shown yesterday is the first ready for newspaper use.

The inventors are two Frenchmen now living in Cambridge, R. A. Higonnet and Louis Moyroud.

SOMETHING HAS BEEN ADDED

Highway Procrastination

One-way traffic still prevails on Route 611 between the "point" of Delaware Water Gap and Slateford because slides on the railroad side of the road have undermined the northbound traffic strip of the two-lane highway.

Unofficial reports indicate this serious traffic-jamming situation on a major U.S. Highway Route into the Pocono Mountains may not see any attempted remedy from the highway department until June.

Another major travel season is approaching. The one-way traffic blockade should not be tolerated another day. In fact, the highway department should get on the job and eliminate the entire Delaware Water Gap gorge bottleneck.

Two Sides

Bandying charges is not going to solve the public assistance question in Pennsylvania as it should be settled for the greatest common good.

The Joint State Government Commission, early in the present legislative session, presented a report claiming vast frauds and deficiencies in administration of relief. And it is probably true that in a state where assistance has been so widespread some chiseling would be expected.

Now the Pennsylvania Citizens Association for Health and Welfare has taken up the cudgels, largely defending the Department of Public Assistance. It asserts that too scant consideration has been given to the critical personnel situation in the department and claims amounts of relief paid are below minimum standards. It claims undue emphasis on recommendations for local participation and scant consideration of the need for citizen participation and of creation of the proper public understanding.

All of these things merely serve to make clear that there are two sides to this whole relief question. Possibly some changes should be made. Periodic re-examination of all government procedures is advisable. Surveys in Pennsylvania might dictate some desirable revisions; they might also surprise some who feel that vast savings are possible. Inasmuch as assistance grants make up such a large portion of the proposed state budget, early action would be helpful.

The Governor's Tragedy

In the death of his wife, Mrs. Helene Morgan Fine, the Governor of Pennsylvania has experienced tragedy such as comes to many a husband and father, but which in his case is compounded by the demands of high office.

Pennsylvanians will mourn the passing of the gracious lady who presided for so few weeks over the Executive Mansion in Harrisburg.

State offices and agencies here and elsewhere throughout the Commonwealth joined the Legislature in pausing yesterday during time of the funeral services as a tribute to the late Mrs. Fine.

Warm hearted, kindly, and with a friendliness which endeared her to the many who were privileged to meet her during the campaigns when she traveled about the state with her husband, Mrs. Fine looked forward with keen anticipation to her occupancy of the mansion in the capital city and to the summer home at Indiantown Gap.

At the inaugural ceremonies of the governor in mid-January, Mrs. Fine was given evidence of the affection in which she was held by the many who came to Harrisburg for the ceremony, but it was only a few weeks thereafter that she became aware of the illness which was ultimately to result in her death.

The sympathy of the entire state goes to Governor Fine and his two sons in the loss of the wife and mother whose tenure as First Lady of Pennsylvania was so shockingly brief.

And with that sympathy goes the prayer that the Divinity will give strength to the Chief Executive of the Commonwealth to carry on in the face of adversity.

Try And Stop Me

Feeling old and discouraged? The snap of youth gone from your stride? Look over these statistics compiled by an agency pushing old-age annuity policies, and take heart: Between the ages of 75 and 83 Commodore Vanderbilt added 100 million dollars to his fortune. Kant wrote his philosophical masterpiece at 74. Tintoretto painted his biggest and most famous canvas when he was 75.

Verdi was 85 when he wrote "Ave Maria." Cato decided to study Greek when he was 80. Goethe was also 80 when he finished "Faust." And — listen to this!—Titian painted his historic "The Battle of Lepanto" when he was exactly 98!

A Purdue sophomore, absorbed in study, asked his roommate, "What's a sachet?" "A sachet," was the answer, "is a bag filled with perfume." "Waddyaknow," marveled the sophomore. "I was out with one Saturday night."

Hollywood

By Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—Acting is fun, reports Edmond O'Brien, but every medium has its drawbacks.

"For sheer acting fun, to enjoy yourself," he said, polishing off a luncheon steak, "the theater is the place. You have an audience. In movies what you're doing, many times, is photographing rehearsals. Especially now with the production pressures that are on."

Eddie lit a cigarette and scowled.

"But in the theater, after about the fourth week, it becomes a job. The dew is off the rose. The sheer monotony starts to get irritating."

O'Brien spent 15 months, counting the film version, in "Winged Victory"—"and if I was ever sick of anything, it was that." He played an ex-Brooklyn cab driver turned bomber pilot. He found that as the run goes on, the stage actor tends to stretch out his pauses and overplay his big moments.

Writer-Director Moss Hart returned after five weeks' absence from the play, Eddie recalled. "He said, 'Your acting is perfectly horrible. The guy you are playing has become a buffoon. From now on just mutter your comedy lines. I want people to believe the guy!' It's lucky Hart wasn't away a year. I'd have been playing the part out in the street by then."

Radio is fun but the least rewarding in acting satisfaction, O'Brien said. "It's the most static of the various 'mediums. But working in all of them keeps you on your toes. One technique helps another."

He's the insurance-investigating star of CBS' weekly "Yours Truly, Johnny Dollar." O'Brien, incidentally, is one performer who prefers doing live broadcasts to recording them in advance.

In O'Brien's most memorable television appearances, he went to sleep. He was in the midst of 40 movie-plugging TV appearances during three days in New York. Eddie dozed off in an easy chair, thinking the camera was off him. It caught him napping.

These Days — By George E. Sokolsky

Sokolsky

Old Cappy Dollar was a patriarchial figure in the Far East, which he traveled most of his long life, and there was no more delightful moment than when a Dollar Line ship came into a port like Shanghai, bringing a load of Americans. In the very early days, many of us would go to the docks to see who was coming into port and what the news was from home.

The Dollar Line was founded in 1901 and prospered mightily. Then R. Stanley Dollar made the mistake of going to the government for help. The depression and the Pacific war hit the ships hard. On October 26, 1938, he put up 92 per cent of the stock of his company for a government loan, which consisted of $7,500,000 owed to the Maritime Commission and $4,500,000 of additional working capital.

One of the elements in the company's difficulties was that on June 30, 1937, the mail contracts were canceled, and yet the Dollar Line was the only steamship company which was refused a subsidy in lieu of a mail contract, and that should have indicated to R. Stanley Dollar that it was desired to keep the lines broke.

On September 6, 1943, the Dollar Line (now called American President Lines) was able to pay $7,500,000, which was the part of its indebtedness to the government which it owed to the Maritime Commission. This debt being paid in full, Dollar asked for his pledged shares. The Maritime Commission, which exists to protect American shipping, refused to return the shares but sought to sell them to a syndicate headed by Charles U. Bay, now United States Ambassador to Norway.

For six years, this case has been in litigation and recently a court held Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer in contempt for refusing to return the company to its rightful owners.

On April 7, 1947, the Supreme Court handed down the decision as to whether an American could sue the Maritime Commission in a matter involving a straight business deal. The Supreme Court gave an 8-0 decision to the effect that the Maritime Commission could be sued. Associate Justice William O. Douglas wrote the opinion, which said:

"If it is decided on the merits either that the contract was illegal or that the Dollar interests are pledgors, they are entitled to possession of the shares as against the government."

This did not satisfy the administration, which obviously has no intention of returning this property to its owners. So the case goes in and out of court. On December 11, 1950, U. S. District Judge Matthew F. McGuire ordered the property returned to the Dollar interests. The Department of Commerce appealed. Some more litigation. On January 31, 1951, the United States Court of Appeals ordered the property returned to Dollar. Some more litigation.

On March 16, 1951, the case is back to Judge McGuire, who orders the property returned to R. Stanley Dollar; instructs Secretary of Commerce Sawyer to do the necessary.

So the Secretary of Commerce and the Department of Justice go in for litigation.

I do not want to go further in this repetitive business, except that it begins to look to me, as I read the record and the citation of the Secretary of Commerce for contempt, that this case is of the order of another mink coat in the White House.

When a man wins his case in the court, time after time, the administration has no business trying every trick in the book to keep him from getting his property. The government should be neither a shylock nor a shyster. It should see that justice is done.

It is disgraceful that any member of the cabinet should have to be held in contempt for failure to carry out the mandate of the courts. This is no example for the rest of the country; yet this is the sort of operation that leads to a disrespect for law and for authority.

It is impossible to believe that this case involves more than that some politicians are interested in a plum and are doing everything possible to make expensive and trying litigation for a citizen so that he would settle a case in favor of the administration or its favorites. But the ownership of property is to be determined by the courts, not by the flat of administrative officials.

Washington Report

By Fulton Lewis Jr.

Washington, April 25—Out of the hundreds of thousands of letters and telegrams that bombarded Washington as a result of President Truman's firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, several thousand came to my office. One or two seemed to summarize all the resentment in hearts of American fathers and mothers who have youngsters fighting in Korea.

Mrs. Walter H. Jensen, of Sioux City, Iowa, unloaded her feelings on President Truman, and was kind enough to send along a copy of the telegram to me. Here it is:

"Dear Mr. President:

"Since you believe in firing those who do not see eye to eye with you in the way to settle the Korean situation, please fire my son Marine Pfc. W. I. Jensen, 667061, FPO, San Francisco, California. He is one of your so-called Marine 'policemen.' He doesn't see any sense of going to Korea, maybe to die if the source of supply for the Commies is left intact. Out here in these parts we don't kill rattlesnakes by stepping on their tails. Maybe you think my loss and grief will be less if he dies in your 'contained' war than if he dies fighting an all-out war on the Commies.

"Please recall Walter at once as he doesn't believe in you and Dean Acheson's method of fighting Commies. Incidentally, my son was a Marine Reservist in his second year of pre-law college when you called him up in October, with no delay for him to finish the semester, no tests to gain deferment. He just went in when he was called.

"If my only child dies, don't try to ease your conscience and send me any medals. Since you are an old artillery officer you know what you can do with them. And get Dean Acheson to help you.

"I send this with full knowledge that you are Commander-in-Chief but also a vindictive man. But go ahead and dish it out. My son is a Marine and can take anything a former Army artillery officer can dish out. I just read a magazine article about what a good hater you are. I am a good hater, too. I wouldn't vote for you again for a $8,000 pastel blue mink coat.

"Yours, until next election.

"P.S. Margaret sings here Saturday night, April 21. I thought sacrifice like charity begins at home. Why isn't she in Korea singing for the G.I.'s?

"If they don't like her long-haired singing she can carry bedpans. That doesn't require any special training. Neither does it bring in $1,500 per bedpan.

"Don't write me any nasty letters as I get riled up about my only kid, too, as well as all the other poor guys in Korea."

Joseph S. Winnill, 950 Columbus Ave., New York City, wrote to Senator Herbert Lehman, of New York. Lehman has been busy defending Mr. Truman's action against Gen. MacArthur. Winnill, a Purple Heart veteran of the Pacific, wrapped up his medal in a little box and mailed it to Lehman. He asked his senator to please return it to President Truman with his thanks.

Haven L. Whiting, of Los Angeles, wired Mr. Truman in regard to the bomb shelter the President is having built under the White House. Whiting suggested the President rush the job so he would be able to use it right away.

"In view of what is happening in the country since Gen. MacArthur's return to the country it is urgent that you have the bomb shelter ready for occupancy without delay," Whiting advised the President.

Carl T. Jacobson, a disabled veteran from Bradford, Pa., asked Mr. Truman by wire:

"Is ex-Pvt. Harry Vaughan going to present Mrs. MacArthur with a mink coat and the General with a deep freeze? We as disabled veterans are afraid that short haired gals and long haired guys at Lafayette Square, and half-pint Acheson will split the commission."

"Well, between you and me," said the doc, "I'm sorry I fired you. Musta lost my head."

"If Rita and Aly divorce," memos Jackie Elinson, "it'll be nice for a change to see a furriner giving money to an American!"

Over at The Stork Club some of the Hams were pro-and-conning MacArthur's historic speech before Congress. "He put on a good show," said someone.

"Yes, indeed," agreed another. "Mac used some John Barrymore and lots of Ethel."

Patti Page's nasty crack: "Wouldja say the Missouri Mob in Washington was guilty of Vaughandalism?"

Awesome Welles was on the pan, again. A lad remarked it was a pity Orson couldn't see himself as others see him.

"To Orson," edited Eddie Condon, "the pity is that others don't see Orson as Orson sees Orson."

Art Franklin says it's easy to tell the difference between MacArthur and some politicians. Mac put a lump in America's throat instead of a pain in its neck.

Over at Toots' place Peter Donald was panning an actor, rated a swish. A pal exclaimed: "That can't be! I understand he once played semi-pro ball!"

The AP is stealing our new act, already. Reporting a court fight on a patent, they say: "This," said the Fed. Dist. Court in Chicago, "is more than a toy. It is a device 'highly utilitarian in character'; it has a 'decided educational and psychological value', and its concept was 'new and inventive'."

What the court meant, explains the AP, was that it was a clever idea and it worked.

The other day we noted how the Satevepost editors had red faces over a typo in their article on Gen. Ridgway. They wanted to report he was battle-raised. It came out bottle-raised.

Years ago another mag suffered a typographical terror. The article described a warrior as "bottle-scarred" when they meant "battle-scarred." So they tried to correct it in the next issue. It came out "battle-scared."

Jimmy Nelson, the popular ventroloquist, says it must be true that Old Soldiers Just Fade Away. Lots of people just can't see Gen. Vaughan.

Looking at Life

By Erich Brandeis

Brandeis

Everybody is trying to find out nowadays what is wrong with America.

Personally I think there is nothing fundamentally wrong with our country, except just one thing: Too much progress.

That, however, has been "wrong" with America ever since she started to grow up from a child into an adolescent into an adult.

And, as long as America keeps growing there will always be self-appointed diagnosticians to claim that there is something wrong with her and to try to find a cure.

When nothing is wrong any more with this country of ours, that will be a sure sign it has reached senility.

May that day never come.

However, we do suffer from too much progress.

Progress and the desire for more progress has made us restless, nervous, irritable.

Everybody wants to be on the go. Everybody is looking for greener pastures elsewhere than where he is.

And those who are not actually looking are hoping for the time when they, too, can join the trek and get on the move.

Right now I am sitting in a hotel in Wilmington, North Carolina, where I have absolutely no business at all.

But my wife and I got fed up on our lovely Connecticut countryside and wanted to see azaleas in bloom. And here in Wilmington millions and millions are in bloom right now.

I cannot begin to describe the beauty of it all.

Nor shall I try. This must be seen to be appreciated. And, furthermore, mine is not a travel column. So come and see for yourself.

Traveling is broadening, they say. But it is also pretty gosh darn expensive—and getting more so all the time.

Last night we stayed in exactly the same motel room for which we paid five dollars two or three years ago. Now it is eight dollars a night.

Meals are sky high and getting higher. I had my hair cut this morning. Thirty-five cents more than a year ago.

But the azaleas are just as beautiful. The sky is just as blue. Nature itself is about the only commodity that has not yet increased its prices for the enjoyment of its beauty.

But to get back to our restlessness of today.

I counted license plates from fourteen different states just in front of the hotel.

Then I made some inquiries about the help. One of the waitresses is from Chicago, another from Syracuse, a third from Detroit. The barber who cut my hair is from Texas, the manicurist from Minnesota; the tailor who pressed my pants came from New York.

I ate a cereal from Battle Creek, Michigan; wiped my mouth with a napkin woven in New Hampshire; used a spoon manufactured in Connecticut; drank out of a cup made in Trenton, N. J.

By the way, on the way down we passed two automobile wrecks. All the people involved were on "pleasure trips."

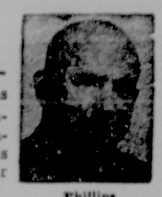

And I thought of some advertising signs by the Burma shave people. They told the passer-by to drive safely. Some people carry a rabbit's foot for luck, said the signs. And the message ended with—

"But that didn't help the bunny".

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Pfc. Emil Is Perplexed Anew

Somewhere in Korea

Dear Babe:

I heard Eric Johnston and Mike DiSalle have been fired by the President. They failed to control ticker tape and confetti. Is that true or false? Also I just read about Harry refusing to watch MacArthur on video, but Mac got even. He refused to look at the telecast of Harry opening the Washington baseball season.

But what's got me all snarled up was trying to figure out why U.N., for which I am a strong rooter and whose whole future depends on doing the right thing to win friends and influence people, put the chill on Mac in the big homecoming parade. It couldn't of done more to advertise its big skyscraper home as a deep freeze unit if it had hired an advertising expert. That U.N. skyscraper has more windows than any other building on earth, and less confetti came out than from the smallest one-window shack in New York.

Here was the top commander of the U.N. forces in its own Korean battle, home after almost a year of carrying its flag, and it was the only organization, institution or skyscraper in the city that paid no attention to him!

I wish I had been Grover Whalen. I would of marched Mac past the U.N. skyscraper and had the band play "Baby, It's Cold INSIDE."

There has always been a place on the agenda for Vishinsky, Malik and Joe Stalin's other low punchers at the U.S.A. and U.N., but Doug MacArthur could not even get on its Friday visiting list. No bouquets no cheers, not even a salute. All winter the boys threw banquets for top Russians, but they could not get around to even a frankfurter roast out behind the shed for the man who had led their forces through the tough going!

I guess it was the first time in history any outfit refused to stand up when its own flag bearer passed in review.

It was like the Brooklyn Rooters Club refusing to cheer a Dodger star, the Navy Club snubbing Admiral Halsey or them Knights of the Round Table taking a "trow da bum out!" mood toward King Arthur.

It was like hearing a fight manager tell his boy "I never seen you before in my life," five minutes after he had sent the kid in to be knocked out with a brave "Go in there and mix it with him. He can't hurt you."

I guess U. N. is in a touchy position on account of the diplomatic angles, but it is hard for me to see why it could listen to Soviet and Red China voice throwers blast the hide off its aims and purposes on television for weeks at a stretch (following it with friendly lunches) and not even find time to say "Welcome home, Mac. Sorry this had to happen." If U. N. really was smart in public relations it would of come out with an open confetti policy, flung out a few MacArthur banners, had a delegation in the parade and hired somebody to sneak a MacArthur button on the lapel of the present secretary general, a Russian, when he wasn't looking. Yes, the U.N. has made some gestures to Doug since, but the memory of the deep freeze lingers on. The U.N. has more interpreters than anybody on earth. Could you get one of them to interpret this snub for me?

Love and kisses,
EMIL

Mount Pocono School Board Raises Property Tax Four Mills

Directors Give Reason For Action

Mount Pocono—School directors of Mount Pocono Board of Education last night raised the property tax from 21 to 25 mills— a four-mill increase. The $5 per capita tax will remain the same.

William J. Hines Jr., secretary of the board, explained the increase was necessary "due to the decrease in State appropriations and the mandatory increases in teachers' salaries."

In other business directors set up a tentative budget of $19,977. It will be open to public inspection until May 25 at the home of Mr. Hines, Kinney Ave.

Brotherhood Greets Three New Members

A well attended meeting of the Brotherhood of St. John's Lutheran church was held Tuesday night in the church school room, when three new members were received. The new officers were in charge with Edward Wagner, president, presiding.

During the business session it was decided that the Brotherhood will take on the project of properly surfacing the parking space in the rear of the church and the construction of an open fireplace for outdoor meetings.

The Brotherhood voted to provide five sponsors for the approaching music festival of the Brotherhood of the Allentown conference to be held in St. John's Lutheran church in Allentown, at which time fine church music will be presented by Guiseppe Maschetti, organist, and choirmaster of St. John's, Allentown, a choir of 100 voices and a noted tenor soloist from Canada. This musical will be held on Tuesday, May 8.

Reports were given by C. A. Keiper, Victor Henning and Harvey Burch, who were delegates to the Conference Brotherhood meeting at Neffs. It was also decided to secure the new pamphlet on evangelism that has been prepared by the United Lutheran Brotherhood for use by the evangelism committee.

C. A. Keiper opened the meeting with devotions and the topic "Christian Fellowship" was presented by the pastor, Rev. Dr. P. N. Wohlsen. The president appointed Harvey Burch to have charge of the devotional period at the May meeting with John Dunkelberger as the topic leader.

President Wagner appointed the following committee: Boys' Work with John A. Kitchen as chairman and ten other members; sick committee, vice president. Edward Hardenstine, chairman, C. Burton Altemose and Parke W. Kunkle; evangelism committee, R. W. Kern, chairman, C. A. Keiper, C. A. Meixell and Deward Shook.

The following ushers were appointed to serve during May; Morning C. S. Kitchen, Richard Andress, Prof. H. R. DeNike, Jacob Altemose; at night, William Andress, Vernon Edinger, Richard Shook and Henry Buck.

During the social hour which followed, spirited quoit tournaments were enjoyed by a number of the men.

Liquid air was produced in 1895 by Charles E. Tripler.

Store Entertains 50-Year Customers At Dinner-Party

E. H. Wyckoff, president of the A. B. Wyckoff, Inc., now in the midst of a 76th anniversary of continuous service operation in this region, was host to over 140 fifty-year customers at a dinner and party in tea-room of the store this week.

The occasion was the annual get-together of friends who have shopped in the store for 50 or more years. Mr. Wyckoff, after greeting all those present and presenting boxes of candy to all over 80 years of age, turned the meeting over to his son, E. Holt Wyckoff Jr.

He presented an interesting program which took the audience back to the old days of store operation. Many of those present responded to the request of Mr. Wyckoff to give their recollections of past years.

Jo-Jo the clown who is at the store this week entertained the guests with accordion music and balloon making tricks.

Dorothy Dunn and Douglas Gordon played dinner music. Group singing was led by a chorus of store employes. Dorothy Dunn was chairman of the entertainment committee.

The chorus, attired in old fashioned costumes, included: Cora Albertson, Betty Fisher, Lucy Demetriou, Pauline Marsh, Lester Kise, Fran Meredith, Pete Wyckoff.

The Spirit of '76 boy in costume, marched to drum music in the tearoom to initiate the program. This group included Baron Rinehart, Howard E. Altemus, Jerry Hinton and Dick Spragle.

McCluskey Explains Donation Meant For Cancer Patients

In an effort to clear up what he termed "a popular misconception," J. Joseph McCluskey, campaign chairman for the 1951 Monroe County Cancer Crusade, last night explained that $200 recently donated to the Monroe County Nursing Service by the Cancer group "will be used exclusively for treatment of cancer patients in Monroe county."

McCluskey added that he learned yesterday that a number of persons are under the impression that the $200 grant was an outright gift to the nursing service.

The cancer crusade chairman said he has conferred with C. Edward DePue, who heads the nurse service group. DePue assured him, he said, that the nursing service was aware of the cancer patient stipulation when they accepted the gift as a token of cooperation between the two welfare groups.

In order to clarify the situation, McCluskey announced that the money will be used by the nursing service for treatment of any cancer cases found in the county.

New Teaching Methods Aired

Stroudsburg teachers yesterday discussed the importance of new and changing methods of instruction during their bi-monthly in-service meeting in the high school.

The importance of activities in schools today was stressed as a means of teaching children to be free and to utilize their freedom. This constructive influence is far greater than the average layman realizes, teachers pointed out.

In a discussion of teaching techniques it was brought out that "the way we were taught is not necessarily the only way and what we were taught does not necessarily apply today."

Teachers stressed the problems of teaching children at their own level. This is made difficult at times, they stated, because there are several groups within one class, "and must be taught and all have needs."

Dr. Lawrence Parks, professor of education at Pennsylvania State College, led the discussion. The values of group work to the individual, he pointed out are:

Increased self-respect, increased contribution of ideas, increased interest in subject matter, increased participation and better preparation in all areas.

The next meeting is planned for Wednesday, May 9, at 3 p. m.

Beef Supply Dwindles At Retail Level

A threatened shortage of beef reported in many nearby sections of the State may have its impact here in the near future, a veteran retailer cinfirmed yesterday.

The retailer said "we are not getting as much as we'd like to, but we're getting along."

First impact of the apparent shortage was felt in regional warehouses of the big wholesale centers serving this region. Some of these establishments in nearby Luzerne and Lackawanna counties were the first to disclose the beef shortage.

The retailer said here yesterday he knows there is plenty of beef available in the nation, but slaughtering of beef has slowed sharply.

Reason for this, he said, is that the Office of Price Stabilization has applied ceilings on beef at wholesale and retail levels, but not at the producer level.

Big packers are therefore curtailing beef traffic until such time as producers' price controls provide a more equalitable price situation.

Large institutional buyers were among the first to be hit by the slow-down in beef deliveries. They include such establishments as colleges, hospitals, etc.

Apparently beef now flowing to the retail buyer is what is made available by limited slaughtering operations and what has been in storage before the pinch on price between producers and packers put a crimp in normal operations.

Retailers here indicated the situation might worsen here unless OPS acts to eliminate the price ceiling upset.

Radio, TV Awards Go To Kintner

Robert E. Kintner, president of American Broadcasting Co. and Pocono Mountains' Pennsylvania ambassador, will receive a special George Foster Peabody award today as the network's programs captured top honors in the annual presentation of radio and television awards and a third program was designated as one of the best in its field.

Mr. Kintner, a native of Stroudsburg, will receive in addition to special award, the Peabody award in the field of reporting and interpretation of the news made by Elmer Davis. ABC's broadcasts and telecast of the Metropolitan Opera and the ABC-TV Saturday at the Zoo received a joint Peabody award.

The special award to Mr. Kintner and the company was made for the courageous stand made in resisting pressures and "for reaffirmation of basic American principles."

Chief basis for this award was the refusal by ABC, under Mr. Kintner's leadership, to bar an entertainer from the air on the basis of unsubstantiated charges that she was a Communist sympathizer. The network's decision was widely acclaimed by editorials and commentators throughout the country.

Attendance Contest Ends With Banquet

Bartonsville—Stroudsburg Lions club, meeting on Tuesday night at Bartonsville Inn, featured the aftermath of the recent attendance contest. The winning team, captained by Jack Kitchen, proved considerate of their defeated fellow members, headed by Jim Somers and the only penalty imposed was that each loser was obliged to pay for his dinner and donate an extra dollar to the club's Christmas toy fund.

The losing team sang the "Roar Lions" song in tribute to their conquerors. The club discovered new oratorical ability, as a result of the persiflage that marked the meeting. Attendance Chairman William Thomas and Captains Kitchen and Somers were called on for remarks, and responded with excellent impromptu addresses.

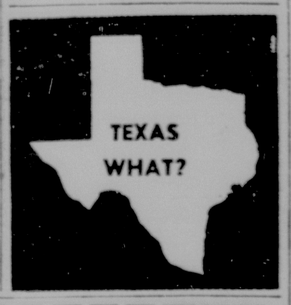

Irvin Jollosky was obligated into Lionism by Dr. James Gavin and was welcomed into the club.

Deputy District Governor Elton Hall spoke on the plans for the State convention and recommended that the club purchase hospitality books for each of the nine duly-elected delegates.

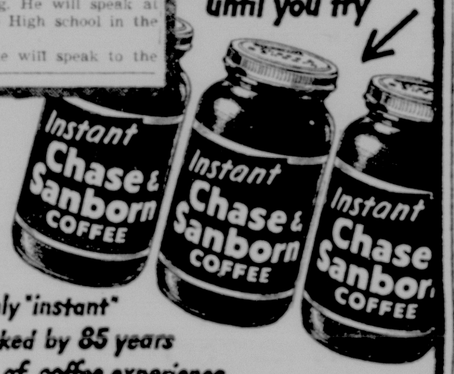

Seymour Katz reported on the plans for the coming wrestling match, to be held under Lions auspices at the gymnasium of the East Stroudsburg High school, Thursday night, May 17, at 8:30. He announced that the tickets would be placed on sale today and that the promoter, Alfred Aceto of Philadelphia, has assured the club of a much better bill than the one provided in December, which was a popular event.

He said, that the places where tickets will be on sale will be listed promptly.

President Deering reported on the coming showing of the King Brothers three-ring circus, which will perform under Lions auspices at the old Stroud Ball park, East Stroudsburg, on Thursday, June 14.

That full tank of gasoline will cost more than most telephone subscribers pay for a full month of telephone service.

We buy gasoline, too, and our 3,500 trucks and cars guzzle it every hour of every day. The costs of everything we buy have been going up and up, just like the costs of everything you buy.

This isn't the fault of those we buy from. It's the fault of the dollar. In terms of what it will buy, the dollar is worth less today than ever before.

But telephone service, in relation to almost anything you can name, stays high in value and low in cost. It has never been so valuable to so many people as it is today.

The secretary, A. F. Everitt, a charter member, presented the guests as follows: S. J. VanVliet, Charles T. Miller, Fred F. Christine, Paul Mansfield, J. Frank Dreher, second secretary of the club, and Rev. Dr. F. L. Eichner, Philadelphia, the fourth president, and only one to have held the office two terms, all charter members.

Also B. Taylor Lacey, aged 85 years, former president and lieutenant governor; Lester E. Lord, member at Hazleton, who also filled the above offices in the local club; Fred Mick, Horce H. Heller, A. E. Engelhardt and Charles B. Hartman, among the earliest members to affiliate with the club. Rev. R. H. Feltham, charter member, gave the invocation.

Chester H. Rhodes, president judge of the State Superior court, charter member, first vice president and second president of the club, also extended a welcome to the special guests and presented Dr. Eichner who recalled his connection with the club, the warm spot it left in his heart, and recalled numerous incidents.

There were also brief remarks by Messrs. Dreher, Lacey, Lord, Feltham and also F. S. LaBar, former president and lieutenant governor, and State Sen. M. F. Crowe, who is also a former president of the club, now on the honorary roll.

Charter members still holding active membership, all of whom were present were: Mr. Everitt, Mr. Feltham, A. M. Price, V. M. Reynolds, H. T. Rinker, F. L. Stackhouse (last two former presidents) and A. J. Zabriskie.

C. B. Altemose, charter member, with a break in his enrollment was also present.

The Stroudsburg club has been honored by having three past presidents elevated to the divisional lieutenant governorship. At least 25 of the original charter members have died.

Gilbert L. Smrz, vice president, presided in the absence of President Harold W. Leininger. He welcomed Norman A. Wangman back to the club after a siege of illness which included surgery, and J. P. Rawson, Scranton Kiwanian.

A beautiful floral bouquet graced the head table and the honored guests were presented with yellow rosebuds.

Wimer Sees Hopes For World Peace

Nazareth—Kurt Wimer, professor at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, expressed the hope before 100 members of the Lions club here this week that Korea may yet provide the chance for reconstruction of World peace and not a third world war.

Mr. Wimer's theme was "Can the U. N. Secure Peace". He reviewed the history of the United Nations, stressing the vast amount of extremely valuable work done by its councils, committees and commissions.

The speaker referred to the helplessness of the Security Council because of the veto, one of the major reasons for shift of action to the veto-less General Assembly.

He traced the results of the Korea impact on the international scene and emphasized that it had brought relationship between large and small nations into the limelight of important U. N. deliberations.

Success Marks First Cooking School Session

The first of a series of four Daily Record Cooking Schools yesterday morning attracted hundreds of women from all sections of Monroe county. The highly successful first session will be followed by three more every other Wednesday morning. Once again school awards attracted major interest.

The next session, again directed by Pennsylvania Power & Light Company's capable and charming home economists, Miss Grace Shankweiler and Miss Katherine Guldin, will be held on May 9. Others will occur on the mornings of May 23 and June 9.

The innovation of two home economists this year provided the means of packing many additional cooking, baking and general housekeeping tips into every minute of the session which opened at 9:30 a. m. Merle C. Ostrom, general manager; L. H. Cross, advertising manager and Don Rayburn, classified manager, assisted in the first session.

Howard Atwell, staff announcer from Radio Station WVPO, was master of ceremonies.

Throughout yesterday's session and in succeeding ones the theme centered around economical preparation of foods in the face of high cost food budgets. Completely informal, the demonstration sessions and lecture attracted wide-spread audience responsiveness.

One dozen generous market bags were among the awards. They contained one can each of the following Flagstaff products: Blended juice, tomato juice, cranberry sauce, fruit cocktail, sliced peaches, red kidney beans, sliced beets, little gem peas, Sauer kraut, pork and beans, apple sauce, iodized salt; also Spaulding bread and cake and a quart of Monroe County Co-Op Dairy Milk. Recipients were:

Car Returned To Its Owner

A light late model sedan, recovered in East Stroudsburg last Thursday night, has been returned to its New York city owner.

Officer Edward M. Harloe, of the east borough police department, said yesterday that representatives of an insurance company claimed the vehicle late Tuesday and removed it to New York.

Stolen in New York a week ago, it was the property of T. D. Waldman.

The vehicle was recovered on Grandview Ave., East Stroudsburg, after Officer Harloe received a call from residents there, advising him that the vehicle was mired on soft earth on an embankment and that three youthful occupants had left the scene.

The juveniles, all 14 years of age and from New York were picked up several hours later in the east borough business section. They were held here until Friday night when they were released in custody of their parents.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your keynumber. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Young GOP Lays Plans For Election

Executive committee of the Young Republicans of Monroe county this week completed plans for reorganization, outlined future events and discussed general plans for participation in this year's strategic county election.

Dr. Carolyn Toewe, acting chairman of the group, conducted the meeting.

Two officers were appointed to serve until the regular election in September. They are Walter Hewlings, treasurer and Marie Cody, secretary.

An amendment to the constitution will be presented at the next meeting calling for election of officers annually instead of every two years.

Dr. Toewe, Marie Cody and Ray Price will represent the organization at the Southwest regional conference of Pennsylvania Federation of Young Republican Clubs in Johnstown, Pa., on Saturday.

K. L. Shirk will be speaker at opening conference in Fort Stanwix hotel. A general conference will ensue to be followed by congressional district conferences attended by congressmen who will discuss Young Republican activities on the county level. A reception will be followed at night by a dinner and dance.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Sort of wonder how Eleanor Wunder managed to work in dinner last night with her husband performing one wedding at the parsonage at 6 and another at the church at 7.

Be sort of dangerous ever to plan to have sauer kraut or boiled cabbage, if you were a minister's wife, it seems. And what about spring housecleaning?

Well, there are tricks to all trades, I suppose, and the men you see mincing around town today are probably Kiwanians practicing up on the trick of walking like a model. That fashion show tonight should be something for the memory book.

And speaking of memory books, might be nice to take yesterday's weather and press it in the biggest dictionary just to remember for the next snow storm. Everybody had a big dose of spring fever.

Parents Urged To Hear Talk

A strong appeal was issue yesterday by the entire teaching corps of Stroudsburg school system to all members of the community to attend a May 14 meeting at the high school when Dr. Chester McNerney, Penn State College, will discuss "Modern Educational Trends."

Noting that a discussion panel will follow the lecture, the teachers said the meeting will be a thought-provoking session of such major importance that "it is the responsibility of every community member to attend."

Speaking for the teacher corps, Anna M. Stem said:

The time demands careful thinking. Our democratic faith must become rooted in our schools in a cooperative planning for study, and for recreation.

The members of our community must help with their interest and their cooperative efforts for the improvement of our educational staff and institutions.

"We must all analyze and evaluate educational endeavors and then cooperate for their fulfillment. Only with sincere endeavor of all working together will we be able to cope intelligently with and preserve our future."

Dr. McNerney's address will help point the way to better understanding and a greater cooperative effort on behalf of the school system, the teacher spokesman said.

Tanker Laden With Fuel Oil Bounds Off Road, Hits Culvert, Plows Into Lawn; $6,000 Loss

Wind Gap — A tractor-trailer tanker unit loaded with fuel oil was listing at a precariously 40-degree angle near a Route 115 culvert two miles north of here early last night, after the big transport went out of control and hurtled a concrete culvert, causing damages in excess of $6,000.

State police of the Brodheadsville State police said they were waiting for a pumper apparatus to come here from Lancaster to drain the tipped tank before heavy wrecking equipment drags the damaged auto tractor and trailer back to the highway.

According to Harry Robbins, 33, of Maple Hall apartments, Graterford, there is little danger of an explosion because of the high kindling point of the fuel oil.

Robbins was driving the double unit northward on Route 115 at 2:45 p. m. yesterday when the big vehicle went out of control on the downhill curve near the property of A. Janda.

Robbins told Brodheadsville troopers that he rounded the right curve to find the transport bearing down on a slower moving truck. Robbins said he immediately applied pressure to the brake levers, but found a malfunction in the air system left him with no brakes at all.

To avoid hitting the truck ahead, he pulled to the left, but the loaded transport gained momentum, and he was unable to control it on the turn after pulling into the opposite traffic lane.

The big tanker bounced to the left shoulder of the highway, then swerved completely off, hitting the concrete culvert and then plowing into the lawn of the Janda property.

Several bushes and shrubs were uprooted and the Janda mailbox and a barber pole were snapped off before the tractor was stopped.

Police said the undercarriage of both tractor and trailer was damaged to the extent of $6,000 tions were taken to protect those as the runaway hit the upright at the scene.

Estimate of property damage to the Janda lawn and shrubbery was not available last night.

The tractor-trailer is registered as the property of Tank Trunk Rentals, Inc., Manheim Pike, Lancaster RD 1.

Investigating troopers said they anticipate no great difficulty once the off-balance tank is pumped dry, but safety precau-

Kiwanis Show Scheduled For Tonight

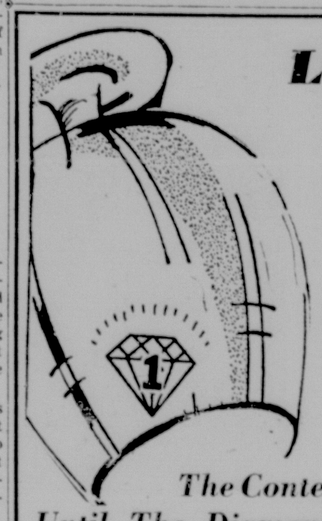

Arrangements have been completed for the production of "Kiwanis Fashion Frolics" sponsored by the Stroudsburg club at the auditorium of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College tonight at 8. Indications point to a large audience.

The full dress rehearsal was held at the auditorium last night and those who were privileged to witness it declare there is a night of real fun in store. It is an all-male fashion review staged entirely by club members.

The modeling will be done through a sequence of scenes, based on preparations for attending a big Kiwanis convention when all the garments, luggage and accessories necessary for the trip will be displayed. There are many surprises, plenty of comedy and good music.

Proceeds are for the education fund of the club. Tickets may be procured today at Kresge's drug store, East Stroudsburg, and Rea-Derick's, Stroudsburg, or at the box office of the auditorium tonight.

Mohammed himself had the mosque at Medina built in 622.

Riegel Ridge To Send Veteran Club Against Pocono A. C.

One Surprise Featured In Amateur Golf

Pinehurst, N. C. (AP)— Charlotte DeCozen of Parsippany, N. J., upset the parade of winning favorites yesterday by eliminating Curtis Cup star Dorothy Kielty of Los Angeles, one up, in the only eyebrow raiser of the North and South Amateur Golf tournament's second round.

The unheralded New Jersey girl played after having her left arm shot full of novocain to relieve an arthritic condition. In addition, she had the handicap of a sore back. After spotting Miss Kielty the first hole on a birdie three, she dug in and made a tight match of it all the way. She closed the veteran coast star with a winning par four on the eighteenth.

Meanwhile, medalist Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., and defending champion Pat O'Sullivan of Orange, Conn., and neighboring Southern Pines, led the upper bracket contingent safely through the round to advance to a quarter-final meeting today.

Results

Miss Faulk won from Grace Lenczyk, Hartford, Conn., two and one, and Miss O'Sullivan, two down after seven holes, birdied the first three holes coming back and went on to eliminate Carol Diringer of Tiffin, Ohio, and Southern Pines, four and three.

The other upper bracket quarter finalists will be Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore and Marjorie Lindsay of Decatur, Ill. Miss Downey spanked Jean Hopkins, the tall girl from Lakewood, Ohio, five and four, and long-hitting Miss Lindsay overpowered Mrs. Sarah Mellick of New York Cty, nine and seven.

Miss DeCozen's victory over Miss Kielty sends her against another tough veteran tomorrow, Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill, N. C.

The former National champion, seven times a winner here, romped over another Tar Heel, Marjorie Burns of Greensboro, with surprising ease, six and five.

Mae Murray, of Rutland, Vt., National runnerup last year, and the beauty of the field, Mrs. Catherine Fox Park of Bloomfield, N. J., won the other matches of the day. Miss Murray was carried all the way to the final green before winning a one up decision over Mrs. Holbrook Platt of Pinehurst. Mrs. Park gained her place opposite Miss Murray by winning, three and two, from Sonia Wise, York, Pa.

Chisox Divide With Browns

Chicago (AP)—The Chicago White Sox divided a double header with the St. Louis Browns here yesterday, winning the opener 8-6 and dropping the nightcap 7-4 in a contest played under the lights from the second inning on.

The defeat in the second tilt was the first suffered by the White Sox at the hands of the St. Louisans in 13 meetings this year. They whipped the Brownies nine straight in spring exhibitions.

Rally Saves St. Louis

The Browns captured the nightcap with a three-run rally in the ninth off Marv Rotblatt and Harry Dorish. Ray Coleman blasted his second homer of the season into the right field stands and Al Moss and Johnny Bero doubled to rout Rotblatt. Ned Garver greeted Dorish with a single that tallied Bero.

Garver relieved Dick Starr during a three-run uprising with which the White Sox tied the score at 4-4 in the seventh. It was his second victory of the season. Joe Dobson, making his starting debut for the Comiskeys, yielded only four hits in seven innings. However, a spell of wildness enabled the Brownies to nudge him for four runs when they mixed two timely hits with four walks in the fifth.

Four Homers Clouted

Al Zarilla, Eddie Robinson, Ken Wood and Jim Delsing hammered homers in the opener. The game was deadlocked three times at 2-2, 4-4 and 6-6. The White six snapped the final tie with a two run rally in the seventh.

Jim Busby singled, stole second and scored on Nelly Fox's double. The latter moved up on an error and counted on Floyd Baker's fly.

Baseball Reserve Clause Under Court Attack Again

New York, (AP)—Baseball's controversial reserve clause is under attack again.

Already busy defending itself against a suit instituted 11 days ago by Jack Corbett and the El Paso baseball club in the U. S. District Court in Cincinnati, baseball yesterday faced another suit by Jim Prendergast, a former major league pitcher.

Prendergast, 33-year-old Syracuse righthander who was traded to Beaumont but refused to report, said he would file suit for $150,000 damages against the Syracuse club of the International league. In it, he will charge that the reserve clause is monopolistic and violates anti-trust laws.

The pitcher, who once was the property of Cincinnati and the Boston Braves, has retained Frederic Johnson, attorney for Danny Gardella in a similar suit against organized baseball, to take action for him. Attorneys William A. Kunstler and Michael Kunstler also will handle the case for him. The Gardella case was settled out of court.

Corbett is suing for $300,000 damages from baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler and George M. Trautman, head of the Minor leagues. Corbett claimed in his suit that Chandler and Trautman acted illegally in voiding contracts his El Paso club had with seven players signed from the Mexican league. In his complaint, Corbett charged that Chandler had no authority to enter into an agreement with the Mexican league by which American clubs were forbidden to sign players under contract to Mexican teams.

Poor Record

Prendergast was traded by Syracuse to Beaumont of the Texas league after he had declined to accept a pay cut. The pitcher had a 6-14 record with Syracuse last year.

In Buffalo, Gene Martin, General Manager of the Syracuse Chiefs, when informed of Prendergast's announcement, said:

"I don't have any comment to make. I don't know anything about it."

Martin said Prendergast's contract was assigned to Beaumont of the Texas league with a condition that the pitcher be retained there 30 days on a trial basis. The Chiefs were to get Ralph Buxton, a relief hurler, in exchange.

"There's nothing unusual in the way his contract was being handled," said Martin. "He won six and lost 14 last year. He also was a losing pitcher the year before."

The reserve clause binds a player to on particular club until such time as the club either transfers or cancels his contract.

Jethroe Homer Defeats Dodgers

Brooklyn (AP)—Sam Jethroe's ninth inning homer with one on and two out gave the Boston Braves a 6 to 5 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers at Ebbets field last night.

Brooklyn had taken a 5-4 lead in the eighth when Jackie Robinson, apparently caught in a rundown, was allowed to score from third after the umpires had ruled interference on the part of Walker Cooper, Boston catcher.

Shea Hurls Yanks To Second Straight Shutout Over A's

New York, (AP)—Frank "Spec" Shea, erstwhile sore-armed righthander, took a long step forward on the comeback road yesterday by pitching the New York Yankees to a four-hit 4-0 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics. The shutout was the A's second in succession and the defeat their sixth in a row.

The Yankees were held to seven hits by Lefty Alex Kellner but benefitted from half a dozen walks. They picked up a run in the second inning, two more in the fourth and gained their final tally in the fifth.

The victory was Shea's first in the majors in nearly two years.

Philadelphia loaded the bases three times, in the second, third and fifth, due to Shea's wildness, but all the runners were left stranded.

Big Gun

Billy Johnson, third sacker, figured in all the Yankee rallies. He got a single, double and walk in four times at bat, drove in a run and scored another.

Arthur MacArthur, son of the general, saw the game from a field box. He was presented with a Yankee baseball cap and an autographed baseball. Casey Stengel, Yankee manager who was released from Lenox Hill hospital this morning, came to the park to pick up some personal effects. He did not remain for the game but said he would be on hand today when the champs begin a two-game series with the Red Sox in Boston.

Wally Moses, 41-year-old Philadelphia outfielder, also missed the game. Moses was sent home to have his bruised right wrist X-rayed. A blood vessel in the wrist popped after a pitch by Ed Lopat hit him in the third inning of Tuesday's game, which the Yanks won, 3-0.

Pro Basketball League Drafts College Aces

New York (AP)— Eighty-six college basketball stars, headed by all-Americas Gene Melchiorre and Sam Ranzino, were drafted yesterday by the ten teams in the National Basketball association.

Melchiorre, a five foot, eight inch ball of fire from Bradley, was the number one pick of Baltimore, which had first choice in the regular draft. Ranzino, tenth-ranking scorer among the major colleges last season, was the number one selection of the Rochester Royals, league champions.

Other first choices were:

Tri-Cities, Mel Hutchins, Brigham Young; Indianapolis, Marcus Freiberger, Oklahoma; Fort Wayne, Zeke Sinicola, Niagara; Syracuse, John McConathy, Northwest Louisiana; New York, Ed Smith, Harvard.

Boston, Ernie Barrett, Kansas State; Philadelphia, Don Sunderlage, Illinois; Minneapolis, Meyer "Whitey" Skoog, Minnesota.

Juniors

The three other members of the Associated Press' All-America, Kentucky's Bill Spivey, Kansas' Clyde Lovellette and Temple's Bill Mlkvy, are juniors and could not be drafted.

Hutchins was the most valuable player in the annual east-west college all-star game while Sunderlage was the Big Ten's most valuable player. Hutchins' teammate, Roland Minson, was picked by the New York Knicks. Minson was named most valuable in the National Invitation tournament.

Cards Slide Into Lead

St. Louis (AP)—Rookie Tom Poholsky, aided by good defensive work, hurled the St. Louis Cardinals to a 4 to 0 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates last night. The young righthander gave up two hits and two walks. Enos Slaughter homered in the sixth for one of the Redbird Tallies.

The victory boosted the Redbirds to first place in the quick-changing national league standings as both the Chicago Cubs and Brooklyn Dodgers lost last night.

Shuts Out Pirates

Poholsky retired the last 19 men to face him.

George Metkovich singled to right-center and Ralph Kiner walked in the first inning. In the second it was one-two-three for Pittsburgh.

Losing pitcher Cliff Chambers knocked the other Pirate hit as he opened the third. A double-play killed that threat. Metkovich was safe on Steve Bilko's error and Gus Bell walked—and they were the last of the visitors to see base. Pinchhitter Ted Beard made a good try to spoil Poholsky's work but Stan Musial was right on the ball with a one-handed catch.

St. Louis added another run for good measure in the eighth against relief hurler Joe Muir.

Derby Picture Becomes More Confused With Record Entry List For Blue Grass Stakes

Lexington, Ky., (AP)—The muddled Kentucky Derby picture became even more confused yesterday when a record 15 entries forced today's running of Keeneland's Blue Grass Stakes into two divisions.

The mile and one-eighth test for three-year-olds, all of them eligible for the Derby at Churchill Downs May 5, will carry its $25,000-added value in each division.

Phillies Sweep Series From Sliding Giants

Philadelphia (AP)— The Philadelphia Phils made good use of all but one of their five hits yesterday to defeat the New York Giants, 2-1, and sweep the three-game series between the two National league contenders. The loss was the seventh in a row for the slumping New Yorkers.

Kenny Heintzelman, crafty lefthander, yielded eight hits and walked six, but was superb in the pinches, leaving a dozen Giant runners stranded on the basepaths. Twice the Giants loaded the bases with only one out, but the veteran Heintzelman escaped each time without a score against him.

Advantage

On the other hand, the Phils took advantage of their few opportunities to score, as loser Larry Jansen surrendered only five hits and did not issue a walk. Only two Phils were left on bases.

Rickie Ashburn and Granny Hamner batted in the Philly runs. Ashburn singled home Eddie Waitkus after the Philliy first baseman led off the first inning with a double. Hamner's two-bagger in the fourth followed a single by Del Ennis put the Phils in front, 2-0.

The Giants' lone run came in the seventh. Wes Westrum coaxed a walk and raced to third on a single by Clint Hartung. Jack Maguire, who ran for Westrum, crossed the plate when pinch hitter Ray Noble flied deep to right.

Pittston—Bernie Clemens, East Stroudsburg, will be among the entries in the 1951 inauguration of spectacular stock car racing here at the Bone Stadium Speedway on Sunday, at 2:30 p. m. Thirty-six of the colorful entries have already signed to enter the grind and many more are expected to be on hand prior to starting time.

Rival Teams To Clash In Pair Of Games

Baseball fans of Monroe County will be able to witness one of the best non-professional teams in this part of Pennsylvania at Gordon Giffels field on Sunday, when Riegel Ridge, N.J., stacks up against Pocono A.C. at the W. Main St. ball yard. The contest is scheduled to get underway at 2:30 p.m.

Riegel Ridge has supported a baseball team for many years and has an athletic setup along the Delaware that would put many towns double its size to shame. Although the locality is interested in several forms of athletics, the baseball team is the number one topic of conversation of all the residents.

The club finished third in the regular season flag race of the Tri-County League last year, but came fast to win the Governor's Cup in the post-season playoff series.

Riegel Ridge will be managed by Bob Weiss, veteran right handed hurler, who has pitched in the East Penn, Bi-State and Tri-County Leagues and at one time was the property of the Newark Bears. Art Cenci, who pitched in the North Atlantic League with both Nazareth and the Stroudsburg Poconos in 1947, is the other mainstay among the hurlers. Cenci is also right handed.

"Bub" Laubach, with Riegel Ridge since 1938, will hold down first base, while "Jeets" Gugliuzza, a veteran of five years with the same club, is scheduled to open the season at second base.

Familar Figure

Augie Fucci, with Easton, of the East Penn League, last year, will handle the shortstop duties. Fucci was a teammate of John Schoonover's at Easton during the 1950 campaign, Schoonover will manage Pocono A. C. this year. Jack Julian, former third baseman with Lafayette College and once the property of the Brooklyn Dodgers, will open his second season with Riegel Ridge at third base.

Tom Fleck, one of the three fly-chasers, is a veteran of the East Penn League, but has been with Riegel Ridge for five years. Charley Fleck, a brother, will also be starting his sixth season with Sunday's visitor, although he missed the greater portion of the 1950 campaign with a broken ankle. The final outfield berth will be handled by Vince Fucci, a graduate of West Chester State Teachers, who is starting his second season with Riegel Ridge.

Riegel Ridge's catching will be handled by Paul Rickenback, another West Chester graduate, who was once a member of the Philadelphia Phillies' farm system.

Pocono A. C. and Riegel Ridge clash on the latter's home field on Saturday, prior to making their appearance at Giffels field on Sunday. In both cases the games begin at 2:30.

Reds Stave Off Cubs, 4-3

Cincinnati, (AP) — Ted Kluszewski, who barely has been hitting his weight, clubbed out a two-run homer in the eighth inning last night to give Cincinnati its second National league victory of the season, a 4 to 3 decision over the Chicago Cubs.

Six of the seven runs scored in the game came as the direct result of home runs and the Reds wound up with three homers, two triples and a double and yet barely staggered in for their victory.

Blackwell Winner

Ewell Blackwell got credit for his first triumph of the season after coming in as a relief hurler.

Roy Smalley's homer drove in Bill Serena for the first two Cub runs. They got another on a walk, a double by Hank Sauer and a single by Phil Caveretta.

Reds Homer, too

Then the Reds started hitting home runs. Pinch hitter Connie Ryan and Joe Adcock each hit for the circuit in the fifth. Kluszewski's game winning wallop out of the park came after Adcock had singled in the eighth.

Middleweights Dominate Scranton Ring Card

Scranton — Ernie "The Rock" Durano, of Bayone, N.J., and Joe Giardello, of Philadelphia, will tangle in a ten round bout for the Anthracite A.C., here at the Watres Armory on Monday night. In all, there will be six bouts, with Promoter Ernie Genell planning to put on a well balanced show.

Durano only recently knocked out Joey DeJon, of Syracuse, in a Cleveland bout, and also boasts of having Rocky Castellani on the floor in a Madison Square Garden engagement. He's rated as one of the hardest hitting middleweights in the fisticuff business, and it is incidentally his first appearance before a crowd in the coal regions.

Tough Foe

Giardello, a promising middleweight out of the Quaker City, is coming along in such fine style that he's expected to be an excellent opponent for the hard hitting Durano. Giardello kayoed Tommy Varsos in one round, whereas it took Rocky Castellani eight rounds to bring the bout to an end. This leads to the belief that he can do some fine punching on his own account, and Durano will be in for the hardest kind of a fight.

There is a chance for either one of these boys to get some lucrative matches in the near future, on the basis of this fact, with Eugene "Silent" Hairston, the most likely opponent for either Durano or Giardello. Hairston is a big favorite in Scranton, and would not hesitate in meeting either Durano or Giardello, and this gives coal region fans a chance to look forward to another fine affair.

The first bout Monday night goes on at 8:30.

ESSTC Diamond Squad Hampered By Injuries

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Baseball has arrived on the Monroe county scene once again, although the professional version has passed into a dormant stage, at least for this season. An amateur team has been formed to take its place and give the people of the Stroudsburgs the best type of baseball possible—that is if the fans of this locality show that they want the organization to operate. It takes money to make even an amateur club click and the money will find its way into the treasury only through good attendance.

The North Atlantic league, of which Stroudsburg was a member, decided to remain out of action for at least a year, due to the fact that the attendance figures dropped sharply during the 1950 season. However, a group of former Poconos and some of the other top flight diamond talent in Monroe county decided to form an amateur club this summer and apply for a franchise in the Blue Mountain league, in an effort to keep the great game alive in this locality.

A franchise was granted and some 17 players have been working out almost daily for the past two weeks in an effort to work themselves into top shape prior to the opening day of the season, a week from Sunday. However, included in the pre-season training program is a home-and-home exhibition series with Riegel Ridge, on Saturday and Sunday of this week. The two clubs will clash at Riegel Ridge on Saturday and then will fight a pitched battle at Gordon Giffels field on Sunday.

In an effort to sell the organization to the local fans, the outfit hit on the plan of admitting all fans free of charge on Sunday, giving each and every person in the locality the chance of seeing the club in action, regardless of whether pay day was all that it was cracked up to be or not. The only money involved in Sunday's contest will be that donated by the fans in a collection. As mentioned above even an amateur club must have money in the ol' sock to operate. The club must clear at the very least $10 per contest, as this is the amount charged for the rent of Gordon Giffels field, by the Stroudsburg school board.

The Blue Mountain league is the talk of the Slate Belt area, where a tremendous natural rivalry has been going on for years. West Bangor, Roseto and Portland are tremendous rivals, while Stockertown and Tatamy enjoy nothing better than knocking each other's head off. The setup is a real seven-come-eleven affair for Pocono A. C., as the nearness of Stroudsburg to the Slate Belt area should go together like milk and coffee. Bangor and Stroudsburg worked up a terrific rivalry last season when the North Atlantic league was still in operation and this writer fails to see why a similar situation can't prevail this season.

Pocono A. C. will be made up for the most part of former Poconos and this fact alone should prove an attraction to the area's baseball following. John Schoonover, one of Monroe county's most famous baseball figures, has been signed to manage the newly formed club this year and from this angle it appears as if a better selection couldn't possibly have been made. John who made his mark with Allentown, of the East Penn league, before joining the St. Louis Browns, has plenty of baseball horse sense and if possible, will have the local club in the thick of the race all season.

Schoonover pitched batting practice for two months for the Browns, then began a tour of the minor leagues and several season of semi-pro ball before taking over the job of managing the George N. Kemp American Legion Post team last year and his present position as field general of Pocono A. S. Schoonover and Frank Radler, who piloted the Poconos for the past three years, became fast friends in the minor leagues, when both played with Elizabethton, Tenn., of the Appalachian league. However, when Radler was with Kingsport, Tenn., of the same circuit, Schoonover and Frank opposed each other on the hill for the only time and Schoonover came up with a 1-0 victory.

Walt "Hank" Polinski, one of the all time favorites with the Poconos, will be on hand to hold down an outfield berth and serve as field captain. Dewey Martling, regular catcher with the Poconos in 1947, has been listed as the second baseman, while John Drews, who caught with the Stroudsburg club part of the 1947 campaign, will handle the receiving chores this year. Martling and Drews were once members of the New York Yankee farm system, advancing as far as Binghamton, Eastern league, and Newark, International league, respectively.

Bob Schick, with the Poconos in 1946 and 1947, will be in the outfield once again for the local nine, while Danny Eppley, who held down first base for the Poconos half of last season, will be back at his usual position. Don Sweda, a regular with the Poconos for the past three years, will hold down third base, while Chet Lucki, who has seen service with both Nazareth and the Poconos in the North Atlantic league, will be a member of the pitching staff, as will Russell "Lindy" Transue, who also pitched for the Poconos in 1948.

Such other well known local baseball talent as Clint Besecker and Doug Schoonover will be members of the club. Considering all angles, the organization that will make its initial local showing of the year on Sunday appears headed for a successful season, if the fans support the club and each player in turn gives his very best down the line. Both sides must cooperate to the limit if the 1951 campaign is to be a pleasant venture to all concerned.

Five Pitchers, Catchers Hit By Jinx

Coach Ed Shay is attempting to nurse his East Stroudsburg State Teachers College baseball team into top physical condition for Saturday's diamond battle with Wilkes College, to be played at Wilkes-Barre. However, the ESSTC mentor is having troubles with his mound corps and catching staffs at the present time.

Bill Herring, ace left hander from Newfoundland, is currently being bothered by an ailing throwing arm, while Gene Talgo, who hurled so brilliantly against Kings College in his only start this season, is troubled with an aching shoulder.

Jim Steidle, another right hander, is also on the shelf with an ailing arm.

Bad Fingers

However, as if an upset pitching staff wasn't enough, Shay is currently hampered by the uncertainly of his catching staff. Hobart "Hobe" Hutchins, first string receiver, is playing was a splintered finger on his throwing hand encased in a cast.

Joe Hricinak, second string receiver, is also handicaped with an injured finger, which occured in a crash with a fellow player while chasing a pop fly near the pitching mound last Wednesday, as the Warriors were going down to an 11-1 setback at the hands of Panzer, on the latter's home field.

However, Shay reported that the remainder of his club is in good condition and that he is hopeful of evening the season's record at two wins and the same number of defeats against Wilkes.

The Warriors are scheduled for two home games next week, meeting Kutztown on Tuesday and Rider on Wednesday, with both contests to be played on the Normal Hill field. The Kutztown contest was originally listed for Saturday, April 14, but was postponed by inclement weather.

Former Pitcher In Court Battle

Herkimer, N. Y. (AP)— A $100,000 negligence action against Hal Schumacher, former New York Giants pitcher, opened in State Supreme Court yesterday.

Injuries

Schumacher, now sales manager for McLaughlin-Millard Bat Co. of Dolgeville, is being sued by Mrs. Sophie Hymkus, 50, of that village. She seeks to recover for injuries allegedly suffered November 4, 1949, when she was struck by a car driven by Schumacher in Dolgeville's main street.

Championship Playoff

Monroe County League keglers will take part in the championship playoff tonight, when Butz's Texaco and Gem Lunch clash at Harmon's alleys. Butz's Texaco won first half honors, while Gem Luneh came through in the second half.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME — By JIMMY HATLO

Barrett Host To Pocono In Exhibition

Canadensis — Barrett and Pocono High schools will take part in an exhibition baseball game here this afternoon, on the former's home field. The contest is scheduled to get underway at 3.

Barrett took the measure of Greene-Dreher High, at Newfoundland, on Tuesday, by a 13-5 count. However, today's outing will be the first of the season for Pocono High, under the guidance of Coach Harry Werkheiser. Joe Murray will again be at the Barrett helm.

No Count

Today's contest in no way will count in the Monroe County League standings.

The circuit opens tomorrow with two games. The northern division will find Tobyhanna Township and Coolbaugh meeting at Coolbaugh, while Polk and Chestnuthill clash at Brodheadsville, in the southern division.

Baskwell, Owens Win

Bangor — Bob Baskwill defeated Bill Martin 21-18 and 21-18 in the first of two out-of-school matches held here at the Bee Hive Youth Center Tuesday night, as part of the fifth annual table tennis tournament. Martin won the tournament title last year.

The second match found Owen Owens taking the measure of LeRoy Hill, 21-10 and 21-15.

Cuban Airliner, Navy Plane Collide Off Florida Coast; 43 Persons Die

Big Plane Hits Water At 600 MPH

Key West, Fla. (AP) — A big Cuban airliner and a small U.S. Navy plane collided with explosive force over Key West yesterday and spun into the sea, carrying 43 people to their deaths.

Water splashed 50 feet into the air as the transport, with 34 passengers and five crewmen, nosedived with a terrific bang into 20 feet of water. Its speed when it hit the water was estimated at 600 miles.

The Navy plane went to pieces as it fell and crashed into the ocean two miles west of the transport. It carried a four-man crew.

Hundreds of sunbathers saw the planes meet at 4,000 feet altitude with a noise that resembled an explosion. Eyewitnesses at first believed that the Navy plane had blown up while flying alongside the liner.

The four-engined transport, operated by Compania Cubana de Aviacion, left Miami for Havana at 11:03 a.m. bound for Havana with a passenger load that included 25 Americans. The collision occurred about 11:45 a.m.

George and Charles Faraldo, operators of a Key West flying service, looked up as they heard the noise of the collision. They said the left wing of the transport was sheared off opposite the outer engine.

It went into a tight spiral, the Faraldos related, but the pilot managed to pull out with full power. Then it went into a straight nose-dive. As it crashed, water spewed so high into the air they could see it over the treetops at the airport.

The brothers took off in their own plane and were the first to fly over the scene. They said they saw a dozen bodies and parts of bodies on the surface but no wreckage. They dropped life preservers and a dye marker to guide rescue boats.

By 11 p. m., Lt. Clemons C. Pearson, commander of the Coast guard station here, said 19 bodies had been recovered but only nine identified. The condition of some of the bodies, he said, made identification very difficult.

"It was a gruesome mess," Pearson said.

Most of the bodies were recovered by Navy divers. After the 19 had been sent ashore, diving operations were halted and efforts were started to raise the wreckage of the big plane to the surface.

The Navy plane fell immediately after ramming the airliner, but the big plane staggered along on a level course about 50 seconds. In its nosedive, it headed directly toward a group of tourist cottages on the south beach. Then it veered to the left and dropped into the water 1,200 yards offshore.

Frank Rogers, a Key West carpenter and one of the eyewitnesses, said it appeared that the pilot wrestled the plane away from the beach to avoid hitting the crowds of sunbathers.

The big plane disappeared beneath the surface and a Navy crash boat that reached the scene in a few minutes reported there were no survivors. Pieces of wreckage and articles of clothing floated to the surface, then a female body.

Other Navy vessels and a diving crew went out immediately to assist the crash boat.

The body of the woman was the first recovered from the airliner. About two miles away, where the Navy plane fell, the bodies of two of its crewmen were found. Only one was positively identified—Lt. (JG) Robert L. Stuart of Key West.

Navy divers and dredgers were bringing up bodies from the submerged wreckage of the commercial plane.

Pan-American World Airways, with which Compania Cubana de Aviation is affiliated, reported it was the first accident on the Cuban airline in more than 17 years of operation.

Truman To Ask Congress For Authority To Freeze Parity Prices For Year

Washington, (AP)—Legislators said last night the Truman administration plans to ask Congress today for authority to put a year-at-a-time freeze on farm parity prices in a new move to hold food costs down.

Senator Maybank (D-SC), who attended a meeting yesterday with President Truman and his top mobilization command, said the administration also will ask:

One—Tighter rent controls, including ceilings on rents for commercial property.

Two—Subsidies on some imports, perhaps including coffee. (Subsidies are payments by the government of part of the cost in order to hold down the retail price to consumers.)

Three—"Probably" some new restriction on credit, in addition to the installment buying and other curbs already in force.

Such new anti-inflation powers will be asked by the President in a special message proposing extension of the defense production act, which expires in June. It is under this law that the government has imposed wage and price controls and many other economic curbs in the past year.

At present, the law says price ceilings on farm products must not be fixed below parity—a shifting price that rises and falls with the cost of things farmers have to buy.

These parity figures are fixed monthly. Maybank said that Mr. Truman now proposes to set a parity price at the beginning of a crop year and keep it there for the whole of that year.

$6.5 Billion Rearmament Bill Okayed In Committee; Army Cuts June Draft Call

Washington, (AP)—A $6,468,206,000 emergency bill to pay the costs of the stepped-up war in Korea—and fuel the rearmament drive on other fronts—won approval by the House Appropriations committee yesterday.

At the same time it was disclosed that the Army plans to cut its June draft call to 20,000 men, and to bring home upwards of 20,000 battle-tired veterans from Korea each month starting in May.

In May and June, the Army expects to recall 15,000 reserve officers to active service. They will help train an Army expected to total 1,552,000 men on June 30.

These figures were given by top Army spokesmen to the Appropriations committee in closed hearings earlier this month.

The committee made them public as it stamped approval on the emergency funds bill, which includes $46,800,000 for a top secret "project X" which the Atomic Energy commission is in a hurry to carry out.

Details of the secret project were given to the committee off the record and none was made public. The committee obviously agreed that it was necessary and urgent because it voted every cent asked, although trimming $4,500,000 from other atomic energy requests.

The committee now is ready to start work on the regular military budget for the fiscal year starting July 1. Military spokesmen say it may come close to $80,000,000,000.

Draft Term Set At 24 Months

Washington, (AP) — Length of service for draftees was fixed at 24 months — three more than at present — in a decision yesterday by Senate and House conferees working on a compromise of conflicting bills.

In passing separate measures, the Senate approved 24 months and the House 26. The Defense department sought approval of 27 months.

The term of service agreement was the only one reached in yesterday's closed-door session. Another meeting will be held today.

Wilson Tells Of Terrible New Weapons

Washington (AP) — Mobilization Chief Charles E. Wilson said yesterday if this country can stall off a decision by Stalin to attack until 1953, "he'll be a dead duck if he does (then) and he knows it."

Wilson said the nation's mobilization program is beginning to roll in high gear and "it would take the State of Texas to store the stuff coming off our production lines by 1953."

Speaking to regional officials of the Office of Price Stabilization, here for a two-day conference, Wilson said:

"If we could have taken Stalin and Malik (Soviet representative to the United Nations) with us and could have shown him some new weapons we saw yesterday, there would be no fear at all of an all-out third world war."

Wilson disclosed that he was at Wright field in Dayton, Ohio.

He said he saw there "now coming off our production lines—Jets, bombers and reconnaissance planes flying faster than ever before and new bombs devastating beyond anything I ever saw.

"The bombs would make fine calling cards for Joe Stalin and his satellites but I hope we never have to use them.

Fight Extension

Harrisburg, (AP)—Senate Democrats yesterday planned to fight a bill calling for a two-year extension on sewage treatment plant construction orders. The bill is up for final Senate passage next Monday.

U. S. Punches Hole In Own Wage Ceiling

Washington (AP)— The government poked a hole in its own wage ceiling yesterday.

Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston approved a six-cent hourly increase for 1,000,000 non-operating railroad workers to offset a cost of living rise.

They would have been entitled to only two or three cents if the government's 10 per cent ceiling on wage increases had been applied tightly.

But an "escalator" clause in their contract called for the six cents, because living costs had gone up.

Johnston bowed to the arguments of a three-man panel that collective bargaining in the railroad industry is "unique" and requires special handling. It takes longer to negotiate a contract because of "lengthy and cumbersome" procedures of the railway labor act, said the panel, which was appointed by Johnston at President Truman's suggestion.

The 1,000,000 non-operating workers—clerks, mechanics, etc.—will begin receiving their six-cent hike next month. The increase becomes effective as of April 1, and all of the April boost will be added to May pay envelopes as rapidly as accounting machines can do the job, a spokesman for the carriers said.

The railroads estimate that the six-cent increase will cost them $129,600,000 a year.

The Johnston action, first in which he has permitted a boost above the 10 per cent allowed under the stabilization formula, poses two immediate questions:

One — How will it affect the wage-hour dispute of the four operating railroad unions—the firemen, engineers, conductors, and trainmen, who are still deadlocked after two years of trying to negotiate contracts? The roads were seized by the Army last August to avert a nationwide strike of the trainmen and conductors.

Two—How will it affect other wage cases awaiting the establishment of a new wage stabilization board. A new 18-man agency, authorized to handle certain types of disputes as well as wage matters, should be set up by next week. One of the first decisions it will have to make will be whether to raise the 10 per cent ceiling.

54 Perverts Quit State Dept. Jobs

Washington, (AP) — The State department told Congress in testimony published yesterday that 54 of its employes resigned last year while under investigation for sexual perversion.

Assistant Secretary Carlisle H. Humelsine said it was "determined" they were homosexuals. In the past four years, he said, there was a total of 144 such resignations. Two were women.

In addition Humelsine said that 14 employes quit or were fired since 1947 as other kinds of "security risks."

Officials said also that thus far this year there have been four separations as a result of investigations into charges of homosexuality.

A BIG BASKET OF GROCERIES is being handed down from the Sherman Theater stage after The Daily Record's first cooking school session yesterday. Mrs. Frank Hartman, East Stroudsburg, R3 receives award from Don Rayburn, Daily Record Classified manager while other award winners await their turn.

Formosa Gets U. S. Arms Aid

Washington (AP) — The United States is furnishing military aid to Formosa under an agreement which requires the Chinese Nationalists to use the arms for internal security or "legitimate self defense" only.

This was disclosed yesterday by Secretary of State Acheson, who released the text of the hitherto secret, three-months-old agreement.

Acheson also told a news conference that the government's Formosan policy has not changed in any way since President Truman assigned the Seventh Fleet last June to protect the island against possible Red Chinese invasion.

Formosan policy has been one of the controversial points in the row between President Truman and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Following MacArthur's speech to Congress last week the Defense department announced plans to dispatch a military mission to Formosa. Without reference to MacArthur, Acheson said yesterday that the policy behind this was the same policy declared by Mr. Truman last June.

Funeral Held For Mrs. Fine

Wilkes-Barre, (AP)—Funeral services were held yesterday for Mrs. Helene Morgan Fine, 42-year-old wife of Pennsylvania's Governor.

They were as simple and unassuming as the 42 years of her life.

Mrs. Fine died of a brain tumor Sunday at the University hospital, Philadelphia, after two operations.

Gov. John S. Fine had asked for the reserved ceremony. He sat beside his wife's bier as an Episcopal clergyman intoned the words of the Scripture, "I am the resurrection and the life."

Rev. Harold O. Boone, rector of St. George's Episcopal church, Nanticoke, presided at the funeral services both at the funeral home in downtown Wilkes-Barre and Oak Lawn cemetery on the outskirts of the city.

The funeral services were private, except for the family, a few close friends and an entourage of top State officials who included Cabinet secretaries, jurists and legislators.

The Fines' two young sons, John Jr 10, and Donald, eight, did not attend.

They remained at the summer executive mansion at Indiantown Gap. Their father went there to be with them when the funeral was ended.

Caldwell Warns Of Mass Attack On U. S. Cities

New York (AP) — The nation's civil defense leader said yesterday Russia has the atom bombs and planes "to assault all our major cities in one attack."

Millard Caldwell, Federal civil defense administrator, urged American newspapers to take quick steps to educate the nation on personal survival under A-bomb attack.

"The brutal truth is that we are confronted with the crisis of crises," Caldwell said in a message read to the 65th annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers association.

"We know that a war may be in the offing. We know that Russia has the planes and bombs to make shambles and slaughter-houses of our major cities."

"Even rudimentary public education on what to do in an atomic attack will save countless casualties," Caldwell said.

Senate GOP Asks All-Out Inquiry Into U. S. Policies

Washington, (AP)—The Senate Republican Policy committee called yesterday for an "all-out" investigation of foreign and military policies linked with the ouster of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) told reporters the GOP group wants an inquiry into policies as far back as the 1945 Yalta conference, with special emphasis on what he called the administration's "encouragement of Chinese Communists."

To get such an inquiry, Taft said, the Republicans will hold in abeyance a resolution by Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) for a joint Senate-House investigation while they watch developments in hearings to be opened May 3 by the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations committees.

MacArthur will be the first witness and Taft said the Republicans will demand that the hearings be public. Senator Russell (D-Ga), chairman of the two-committee inquiry, has said he'd rather the hearings would be closed.

In New York, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, MacArthur's spokesman, said the five-star general has no objection to public hearings or to being televised.

Taft said the Republicans will ask Russell to add four members of the Senate appropriations subcommittee, dealing with armed services affairs, to the present 26-member armed services-foreign relations group.

Russell told reporters last night he is "unalterably opposed" to public hearings and to adding to the size of the committee.

"I think the American people prefer facts to entertainment, however delectable—to entertainment over the radio and television," the Georgia senator said. "It is inconceivable to me that there can be any questioning in public hearings without running into military security.

"One unguarded statement might mean the lives of several thousand boys in Korea."

Russell said that if MacArthur wants to make a general statement in a public hearing, and then submit to questioning behind closed doors, he would consider doing it that way.

The White House said yesterday that telegrams received by the President since his ouster of MacArthur have run about 58 per cent against him and 42 per cent in his support. The mail response shows "a 50-50 break," Presidential Secretary Joseph Short said.

"Later telegrams are running about 3 to 1 in favor of the President's action, Short said. He added that a tabulation through Monday showed receipt of 70,000 to 75,000 letters and about 20,000 telegrams.

May Quarantine Reds

Washington, (AP) — Ambassador Warren Austin, U. S. representative to the United Nations, has hinted to Congress that the UN may consider quarantining Communist China as a new attempt to halt Soviet-backed aggression in Korea.

Chicagoans To Honor MacArthurs

Chicago, (AP) — Millions from Chicago and the Midwest are expected to turn out today to show General MacArthur he hasn't started fading away in their minds.

Chicago is planning for possibly the greatest demonstration in its history to welcome the five star general on his first visit to the Midwest since his return to the United States last week.

Some are calling it D (for Doug) day. The city will go on a virtual holiday footing. Officials are preparing for a turnout of 3,000,000 spectators.

A double-barreled celebration has been arranged. In the afternoon there will be a 23 - mile parade from the airport to the Loop and through the business district. At night, a mammoth jamboree and fireworks display will be held in Soldier field.

General MacArthur is due to arrive at Midway airport from New York in his plane "Bataan" at 12:30 p. m., accompanied by Mrs. MacArthur and their son, Arthur, 13. The general is expected to speak briefly on his arrival and to deliver a talk at the Soldier field jamboree.

AP Newsman Disappears

Frankfurt, Germany (AP) — William N. Oatis, chief of the Associated Press bureau in Czechoslovakia, disappeared Monday and the U.S. embassy in Prague fears he is under arrest.

The embassy requested yesterday that the Communist government investigate "on the most urgent basis possible." Embassy Counsellor Tyler Thompson took personal charge of efforts to trace Oatis.

Beginning three weeks ago, Czech employes of the AP's Prague bureau began vanishing. Thomas Svoboda, sports reporter and teletypist, Pavel Wodjinek and Peter Muenz dropped out of sight one by one.

"Nobody knows where they are—they're just missing," said a remaining Czech employe who first disclosed Oatis' disappearance to the Associated Press at Frankfurt.

A fourth Czech employe of the bureau was reported missing last night. Russell Jones, the United Press correspondent in Prague, telephoned that translator Vladimir Preclik disappeared the same day Oatis, a 37-year-old former Marion, Ind., newspaperman, disappeared.

Allies Forced To Withdraw Toward Seoul

Tokyo, Thursday (AP) — Chinese Reds poured fresh troops into their western Korea offensive today and forced new Allied withdrawals toward Seoul along a 30-mile sector.

The Communists captured Munsan, 21 miles northwest of Seoul. Munsan is 10 miles south of the 38th parallel on a main highway to Seoul.

An overrun Allied unit was reported fighting its way out of a trap with the aid of tanks that made a rescue linkup. Details were lacking but a field dispatch reported the rescue effort was succeeding.

The five-day-old Red offensive apparently had run out of steam in central Korea. And everywhere the Reds were paying a terrific price.

They lost 7,095 men in killed and wounded by ground action alone yesterday and 1,000 or more were cut down by Allied planes—boosting the Communist casualties well past 25,000 since the big offensive started Sunday.

Reinforced Reds pounded their way seven miles south of the 38th parallel in the west. That put them within 20 miles of Seoul, war-ravaged capital already being deserted by civilians.

In the mountainous center, where the Reds had blasted a gaping hole, fresh Allied troops not only sealed it but dealt armored counter-punches.

Field dispatches today said there appeared to be no immediate threat of more Red breakthroughs anywhere across the 100-mile front.

The Allies were reported making planned withdrawals under cover of thunderous artillery barrages. This has been described by Army officers as "rolling with the punch" every day since the Reds first struck.

Today's Eighth Army communique emphasized that heavy losses were being inflicted on the Reds everywhere the opposing forces were in contact.

But the Reds kept coming, heedless of losses. Five trains and 1,400 trucks were spotted rolling southward into the Red lines.

An estimated 18,000 Reds were killed in three days—to noon Wednesday—by Allied air and ground action. That estimate did not include wounded.

A field dispatch said that possibly half of 33 Chinese Red divisions which struck in western Korea were badly mauled.

The Chinese assault on the central sector of the 100-mile front was checked four miles north of Kapyong. Kapyong, 33 miles northeast of Seoul, is on the paved Seoul-Chunchon highway—a main Allied supply artery.

AP Correspondent Jim Becker, on the central front, reported an Allied tank-infantry column lunged back at the Reds pouring down northwest of Chunchon, the road and rail center 45 air miles northeast of Seoul.

The task force swept to within six miles of Parallel 38, mowed down the Reds and then returned to U. N. lines after running out of ammunition. A second armored force struck north of Kapyong.

Gromyko Tells U. N. Troops To Quit Korean War

Paris, (AP)—Soviet Russia's Andrei Gromyko told western deputies here last night that "there will not be enough room in Korea for the white crosses over the tombs of the interventionist troops" unless United Nations forces are withdrawn.

The Soviet deputy foreign minister was quoted as telling the west at another deadlocked session of the conference that the way to end the Korean war is for the U. N. troops to go home.

This was the 37th session of the deputies of the USSR, France, Britain and the United States in their attempt to draw up an agenda for a foreign ministers' conference to ease international tensions. A western source described the session as mostly a monologue attack on the west by Gromyko.

There were several hot exchanges during which the chairman for the day, Alexander Parodi of France, had to call Gromyko to order.

Dmytryk Breaks Silence

Washington (AP)—Screen director Edward Dmytryk, breaking a silence which sent him to jail in 1950, said yesterday that Communism has tried to capture Hollywood through the guilds and unions there.

Typewriter That Thinks Shown To Newsman; Faster, More Accurate Printing Envisioned

By Howard W. Blakeslee
Associated Press Science Editor

New York, (AP) — A typewriter that thinks was demonstrated yesterday to the American Newspaper Publishers association.

This machine types the same kind and size letters as your portable or office typewriter. Electric impulses change these letters into any size, any style of newspaper type you like. And it comes out, complete, on photographic film, ready for the engraved plate that will print your newspaper.

The typewriter would eliminate all type, all typesetters, all linotype machines, and other equipment involved in the casting of type. Some of these machines weigh thousands of pounds and cost thousands of dollars. The typewriter weighs a pound and a half. No figure on its cost was given.

The purpose is faster, less costly and more accurate printing because of elimination of handling by several printing departments. In the long run, say the producers, the Graphic Arts Research Foundation, Inc., Cambridge, Mass., more and better jobs will result.

The typewriter has seven little fingers, rods of metal, in its back. Each letter or character moves one or more fingers.

The moving finger closes an electric switch, sending current into a calculating machine, or mechanical brain. What happens there is the same as when you dial a phone number, all done with the same kind of electrical gadgets.

Next step is transmission of this electrical control to a small whirling disc. On the border of the disc are eight circular rows of letters. The eight contain 16 alphabets and the characters, such as commas, that go to make an alphabet complete for printing in English.

Each letter is transparent. A flashing light shines through whichever letter the typewriter chooses. Lenses focus this letter on photographic film, and that completes the job.

The apparatus attached to the typewriter to do all this is about the size of two family refrigerators.

The machine shown yesterday is the first ready for newspaper use.

The inventors are two Frenchmen now living in Cambridge, R. A. Higonnet and Louis Moyroud.

SOMETHING HAS BEEN ADDED

Highway Procrastination

One-way traffic still prevails on Route 611 between the "point" of Delaware Water Gap and Slateford because slides on the railroad side of the road have undermined the northbound traffic strip of the two-lane highway.

Unofficial reports indicate this serious traffic-jamming situation on a major U.S. Highway Route into the Pocono Mountains may not see any attempted remedy from the highway department until June.

Another major travel season is approaching. The one-way traffic blockade should not be tolerated another day. In fact, the highway department should get on the job and eliminate the entire Delaware Water Gap gorge bottleneck.

Two Sides

Bandying charges is not going to solve the public assistance question in Pennsylvania as it should be settled for the greatest common good.

The Joint State Government Commission, early in the present legislative session, presented a report claiming vast frauds and deficiencies in administration of relief. And it is probably true that in a state where assistance has been so widespread some chiseling would be expected.

Now the Pennsylvania Citizens Association for Health and Welfare has taken up the cudgels, largely defending the Department of Public Assistance. It asserts that too scant consideration has been given to the critical personnel situation in the department and claims amounts of relief paid are below minimum standards. It claims undue emphasis on recommendations for local participation and scant consideration of the need for citizen participation and of creation of the proper public understanding.

All of these things merely serve to make clear that there are two sides to this whole relief question. Possibly some changes should be made. Periodic re-examination of all government procedures is advisable. Surveys in Pennsylvania might dictate some desirable revisions; they might also surprise some who feel that vast savings are possible. Inasmuch as assistance grants make up such a large portion of the proposed state budget, early action would be helpful.

The Governor's Tragedy

In the death of his wife, Mrs. Helene Morgan Fine, the Governor of Pennsylvania has experienced tragedy such as comes to many a husband and father, but which in his case is compounded by the demands of high office.

Pennsylvanians will mourn the passing of the gracious lady who presided for so few weeks over the Executive Mansion in Harrisburg.

State offices and agencies here and elsewhere throughout the Commonwealth joined the Legislature in pausing yesterday during time of the funeral services as a tribute to the late Mrs. Fine.

Warm hearted, kindly, and with a friendliness which endeared her to the many who were privileged to meet her during the campaigns when she traveled about the state with her husband, Mrs. Fine looked forward with keen anticipation to her occupancy of the mansion in the capital city and to the summer home at Indiantown Gap.

At the inaugural ceremonies of the governor in mid-January, Mrs. Fine was given evidence of the affection in which she was held by the many who came to Harrisburg for the ceremony, but it was only a few weeks thereafter that she became aware of the illness which was ultimately to result in her death.

The sympathy of the entire state goes to Governor Fine and his two sons in the loss of the wife and mother whose tenure as First Lady of Pennsylvania was so shockingly brief.

And with that sympathy goes the prayer that the Divinity will give strength to the Chief Executive of the Commonwealth to carry on in the face of adversity.

Feeling old and discouraged? The snap of youth gone from your stride? Look over these statistics compiled by an agency pushing old-age annuity policies, and take heart: Between the ages of 75 and 83 Commodore Vanderbilt added 100 million dollars to his fortune. Kant wrote his philosophical masterpiece at 74. Tintoretto painted his biggest and most famous canvas when he was 75.

Verdi was 85 when he wrote "Ave Maria." Cato decided to study Greek when he was 80. Goethe was also 80 when he finished "Faust." And — listen to this!—Titian painted his historic "The Battle of Lepanto" when he was exactly 98!

A Purdue sophomore, absorbed in study, asked his roommate, "What's a sachet?" "A sachet," was the answer, "is a bag filled with perfume." "Waddyaknow," marveled the sophomore. "I was out with one Saturday night."

Hollywood

Hollywood—Acting is fun, reports Edmond O'Brien, but every medium has its drawbacks.

"For sheer acting fun, to enjoy yourself," he said, polishing off a luncheon steak, "the theater is the place. You have an audience. In movies what you're doing, many times, is photographing rehearsals. Especially now with the production pressures that are on."

Eddie lit a cigarette and scowled.

"But in the theater, after about the fourth week, it becomes a job. The dew is off the rose. The sheer monotony starts to get irritating."

O'Brien spent 15 months, counting the film version, in "Winged Victory"—"and if I was ever sick of anything, it was that." He played an ex-Brooklyn cab driver turned bomber pilot. He found that as the run goes on, the stage actor tends to stretch out his pauses and overplay his big moments.

Writer-Director Moss Hart returned after five weeks' absence from the play, Eddie recalled. "He said, 'Your acting is perfectly horrible. The guy you are playing has become a buffoon. From now on just mutter your comedy lines. I want people to believe the guy!' It's lucky Hart wasn't away a year. I'd have been playing the part out in the street by then."

Radio is fun but the least rewarding in acting satisfaction, O'Brien said. "It's the most static of the various mediums. But working in all of them keeps you on your toes. One technique helps another."

He's the insurance-investigating star of CBS' weekly "Yours Truly, Johnny Dollar." O'Brien, incidentally, is one performer who prefers doing live broadcasts to recording them in advance.

In O'Brien's most memorable television appearances, he went to sleep. He was in the midst of 40 movie-plugging TV appearances during three days in New York. Eddie dozed off in an easy chair, thinking the camera was off him. It caught him napping.

These Days — By George E. Sokolsky

Sokolsky

Old Cappy Dollar was a patriarchial figure in the Far East, which he traveled most of his long life, and there was no more delightful moment than when a Dollar Line ship came into a port like Shanghai, bringing a load of Americans. In the very early days, many of us would go to the docks to see who was coming into port and what the news was from home.

The Dollar Line was founded in 1901 and prospered mightily. Then R. Stanley Dollar made the mistake of going to the government for help. The depression and the Pacific war hit the ships hard. On October 26, 1938, he put up 92 per cent of the stock of his company for a government loan, which consisted of $7,500,000 owed to the Maritime Commission and $4,500,000 of additional working capital.

One of the elements in the company's difficulties was that on June 30, 1937, the mail contracts were canceled, and yet the Dollar Line was the only steamship company which was refused a subsidy in lieu of a mail contract, and that should have indicated to R. Stanley Dollar that it was desired to keep the lines broke.

On September 6, 1943, the Dollar Line (now called American President Lines) was able to pay $7,500,000, which was the part of its indebtedness to the government which it owed to the Maritime Commission. This debt being paid in full, Dollar asked for his pledged shares. The Maritime Commission, which exists to protect American shipping, refused to return the shares but sought to sell them to a syndicate headed by Charles U. Bay, now United States Ambassador to Norway.

For six years, this case has been in litigation and recently a court held Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer in contempt for refusing to return the company to its rightful owners.

On April 7, 1947, the Supreme Court handed down the decision as to whether an American could sue the Maritime Commission in a matter involving a straight business deal. The Supreme Court gave an 8-0 decision to the effect that the Maritime Commission could be sued. Associate Justice William O. Douglas wrote the opinion, which said:

"If it is decided on the merits either that the contract was illegal or that the Dollar interests are pledgors, they are entitled to possession of the shares as against the government."

This did not satisfy the administration, which obviously has no intention of returning this property to its owners. So the case goes in and out of court. On December 11, 1950, U. S. District Judge Matthew F. McGuire ordered the property returned to the Dollar interests. The Department of Commerce appealed. Some more litigation. On January 31, 1951, the United States Court of Appeals ordered the property returned to Dollar. Some more litigation.

On March 16, 1951, the case is back to Judge McGuire, who orders the property returned to R. Stanley Dollar; instructs Secretary of Commerce Sawyer to do the necessary.

So the Secretary of Commerce and the Department of Justice go in for litigation.

I do not want to go further in this repetitive business, except that it begins to look to me, as I read the record and the citation of the Secretary of Commerce for contempt, that this case is of the order of another mink coat in the White House.

When a man wins his case in the court, time after time, the administration has no business trying every trick in the book to keep him from getting his property. The government should be neither a shylock nor a shyster. It should see that justice is done.

It is disgraceful that any member of the cabinet should have to be held in contempt for failure to carry out the mandate of the courts. This is no example for the rest of the country; yet this is the sort of operation that leads to a disrespect for law and for authority.

It is impossible to believe that this case involves more than that some politicians are interested in a plum and are doing everything possible to make expensive and trying litigation for a citizen so that he would settle a case in favor of the administration or its favorites. But the ownership of property is to be determined by the courts, not by the fiat of administrative officials.

Washington Report

By Fulton Lewis Jr.

Washington, April 25—Out of the hundreds of thousands of letters and telegrams that bombarded Washington as a result of President Truman's firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, several thousand came to my office. One or two seemed to summarize all the resentment in hearts of American fathers and mothers who have youngsters fighting in Korea.

Mrs. Walter H. Jensen, of Sioux City, Iowa, unloaded her feelings on President Truman, and was kind enough to send along a copy of the telegram to me. Here it is:

"Dear Mr. President:

"Since you believe in firing those who do not see eye to eye with you in the way to settle the Korean situation, please fire my son Marine Pfc. W. I. Jensen, 667061, FPO, San Francisco, California. He is one of your so-called Marine 'policemen.' He doesn't see any sense of going to Korea, maybe to die if the source of supply for the Commies is left intact. Out here in these parts we don't kill rattlesnakes by stepping on their tails. Maybe you think my loss and grief will be less if he dies in your 'contained' war than if he dies fighting an all-out war on the Commies.

"Please recall Walter at once as he doesn't believe in your and Dean Acheson's method of fighting Commies. Incidentally, my son was a Marine Reservist in his second year of pre-law college when you called him up in October, with no delay for him to finish the semester, no tests to gain deferment. He just went in when he was called.

"If my only child dies, don't try to ease your conscience and send me any medals. Since you are an old artillery officer you know what you can do with them. And get Dean Acheson to help you.

"I send this with full knowledge that you are Commander-in-Chief but also a vindictive man. But go ahead and dish it out. My son is a Marine and can take anything a former Army artillery officer can dish out. I just read a magazine article about what a good hater you are. I am a good hater, too. I wouldn't vote for you again for a $8,000 pastel blue mink coat.

"Yours, until next election.

"P.S. Margaret sings here Saturday night, April 21. I thought sacrifice like charity begins at home. Why isn't she in Korea singing for the G.I.'s?

"If they don't like her long-haired singing she can carry bedpans. That doesn't require any special training. Neither does it bring in $1,500 per bedpan.

"Don't write me any nasty letters as I get riled up about my only kid, too, as well as all the other poor guys in Korea."

Joseph S. Winnill, 950 Columbus Ave., New York City, wrote to Senator Herbert Lehman, of New York. Lehman has been busy defending Mr. Truman's action against Gen. MacArthur. Winnill, a Purple Heart veteran of the Pacific, wrapped up his medal in a little box and mailed it to Lehman. He asked his senator to please return it to President Truman with his thanks.

Haven L. Whiting, of Los Angeles, wired Mr. Truman in regard to the bomb shelter the President is having built under the White House. Whiting suggested the President rush the job so he would be able to use it right away.

"In view of what is happening in the country since Gen. MacArthur's return to the country it is urgent that you have the bomb shelter ready for occupancy without delay," Whiting advised the President.

Carl T. Jacobson, a disabled veteran from Bradford, Pa., asked Mr. Truman by wire:

"Is ex-Pvt. Harry Vaughan going to present Mrs. MacArthur with a mink coat and the General with a deep freeze? We as disabled veterans are afraid that short haired gals and long haired guys at Lafayette Square, and half-pint Acheson will split the commission."

What the court meant, explains the AP, was that it was a clever idea and it worked.

The other day we noted how the Satevepost editors had red faces over a typo in their article on Gen. Ridgway. They wanted to report he was battle-raised. It came out bottle-raised.

Years ago another mag suffered a typographical terror. The article described a warrior as "bottle-scarred" when they meant "battle-scarred." So they tried to correct it in the next issue. It came out "battle-scared."

Looking at Life

By Erich Brandeis

Brandeis

Everybody is trying to find out nowadays what is wrong with America.

Personally I think there is nothing fundamentally wrong with our country, except just one thing: Too much progress.

That, however, has been "wrong" with America ever since she started to grow up from a child into an adolescent into an adult.

And, as long as America keeps growing there will always be self-appointed diagnosticians to claim that there is something wrong with her and to try to find a cure.

When nothing is wrong any more with this country of ours, that will be a sure sign it has reached senility.

May that day never come.

However, we do suffer from too much progress.

Progress and the desire for more progress has made us restless, nervous, irritable.

Everybody wants to be on the go. Everybody is looking for greener pastures elsewhere than where he is.

And those who are not actually looking are hoping for the time when they, too, can join the trek and get on the move.

Right now I am sitting in a hotel in Wilmington, North Carolina, where I have absolutely no business at all.

But my wife and I got fed up on our lovely Connecticut countryside and wanted to see azaleas in bloom. And here in Wilmington millions and millions are in bloom right now.

I cannot begin to describe the beauty of it all.

Nor shall I try. This must be seen to be appreciated. And, furthermore, mine is not a travel column. So come and see for yourself.

Traveling is broadening, they say. But it is also pretty gosh darn expensive—and getting more so all the time.

Last night we stayed in exactly the same motel room for which we paid five dollars two or three years ago. Now it is eight dollars a night.

Meals are sky high and getting higher. I had my hair cut this morning. Thirty-five cents more than a year ago.

But the azaleas are just as beautiful. The sky is just as blue. Nature itself is about the only commodity that has not yet increased its prices for the enjoyment of its beauty.

But to get back to our restlessness of today.

I counted license plates from fourteen different states just in front of the hotel.

Then I made some inquiries about the help. One of the waitresses is from Chicago, another from Syracuse, a third from Detroit. The barber who cut my hair is from Texas, the manicurist from Minnesota; the tailor who pressed my pants came from New York.

I ate a cereal from Battle Creek, Michigan; wiped my mouth with a napkin woven in New Hampshire; used a spoon manufactured in Connecticut; drank out of a cup made in Trenton, N. J.

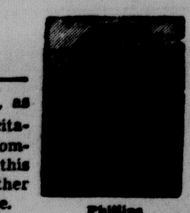

By the way, on the way down we passed two automobile wrecks. All the people involved were on "pleasure trips."

And I thought of some advertising signs by the Burma shave people. They told the passer-by to drive safely. Some people carry a rabbit's foot for luck, said the signs. And the message ended with—

"But that didn't help the bunny".

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Pfc. Emil Is Perplexed Anew Somewhere in Korea

Dear Babe:

I heard Eric Johnston and Mike DiSalle have been fired by the President. They failed to control ticker tape and confetti. Is that true or false? Also I just read about Harry refusing to watch MacArthur on video, but Mac got even. He refused to look at the telecast of Harry opening the Washington baseball season.

But what's got me all snarled up was trying to figure out why U.N., for which I am a strong rooter and whose whole future depends on doing the right thing to win friends and influence people, put the chill on Mac in the big homecoming parade. It couldn't of done more to advertise its big skyscraper home as a deep freeze unit if it had hired an advertising expert. That U.N. skyscraper has more windows than any other building on earth, and less confetti came out than from the smallest one-window shack in New York.

Here was the top commander of the U.N. forces in its own Korean battle, home after almost a year of carrying its flag, and it was the only organization, institution or skyscraper in the city that paid no attention to him!

I wish I had been Grover Whalen. I would of marched Mac past the U.N. skyscraper and had the band play "Baby, It's Cold INSIDE."

There has always been a place on the agenda for Vishinsky, Malik and Joe Stalin's other low punchers at the U.S.A. and U.N., but Doug MacArthur could not even get on its Friday visiting list. No bouquets no cheers, not even a salute. All winter the boys threw banquets for top Russians, but they could not get around to even a frankfurter roast out behind the shed for the man who had led their forces through the tough going!

I guess it was the first time in history any outfit refused to stand up when its own flag bearer passed in review.

It was like the Brooklyn Rooters Club refusing to cheer a Dodger star, the Navy Club snubbing Admiral Halsey or them Knights of the Round Table taking a "trow da bum out!" mood toward King Arthur.

It was like hearing a fight manager tell his boy "I never seen you before in my life," five minutes after he had sent the kid in to be knocked out with a brave "Go in there and mix it with him. He can't hurt you."

I guess U. N. is in a touchy position on account of the diplomatic angles, but it is hard for me to see why it could listen to Soviet and Red China voice throwers blast the hide off its aims and purposes on television for weeks at a stretch (following it with friendly lunches) and not even find time to say "Welcome home, Mac. Sorry this had to happen." If U. N. really was smart in public relations it would of come out with an open confetti policy, flung out a few MacArthur banners, had a delegation in the parade and hired somebody to sneak a MacArthur button on the lapel of the present secretary general, a Russian, when he wasn't looking. Yes, the U.N. has made some gestures to Doug since, but the memory of the deep freeze lingers on. The U.N. has more interpreters than anybody on earth. Could you get one of them to interpret this snub for me?

Love and kisses,
EMIL

Mount Pocono School Board Raises Property Tax Four Mills

Directors Give Reason For Action

Mount Pocono—School directors of Mount Pocono Board of Education last night raised the property tax from 21 to 25 mills— a four-mill increase. The $5 per capita tax will remain the same.

William J. Hines Jr., secretary of the board, explained the increase was necessary "due to the decrease in State appropriations and the mandatory increases in teachers' salaries."

In other business directors set up a tentative budget of $19,977. It will be open to public inspection until May 25 at the home of Mr. Hines, Kinney Ave.

Brotherhood Greets Three New Members

A well attended meeting of the Brotherhood of St. John's Lutheran church was held Tuesday night in the church school room, when three new members were received. The new officers were in charge with Edward Wagner, president, presiding.

During the business session it was decided that the Brotherhood will take on the project of properly surfacing the parking space in the rear of the church and the construction of an open fireplace for outdoor meetings.

The Brotherhood voted to provide five sponsors for the approaching music festival of the Brotherhood of the Allentown conference to be held in St. John's Lutheran church in Allentown, at which time fine church music will be presented by Guiseppe Maschetti, organist, and choirmaster of St. John's, Allentown, a choir of 100 voices and a noted tenor soloist from Canada. This musical will be held on Tuesday, May 8.

Reports were given by C. A. Keiper, Victor Henning and Harvey Burch, who were delegates to the Conference Brotherhood meeting at Neffs. It was also decided to secure the new pamphlet on evangelism that has been prepared by the United Lutheran Brotherhood for use by the evangelism committee.

C. A. Keiper opened the meeting with devotions and the topic "Christian Fellowship" was presented by the pastor, Rev. Dr. P. N. Wohlsen. The president appointed Harvey Burch to have charge of the devotional period at the May meeting with John Dunkelberger as the topic leader.

President Wagner appointed the following committee: Boys' Work with John A. Kitchen as chairman and ten other members; sick committee, vice president. Edward Hardenstine, chairman, C. Burton Altemose and Parke W. Kunkle; evangelism committee, R. W. Kern, chairman, C. A. Keiper, C. A. Meixell and Deward Shook.

The following ushers were appointed to serve during May; Morning C. S. Kitchen, Richard Andress, Prof. H. R. DeNike, Jacob Altemose; at night, William Andress, Vernon Edinger, Richard Shook and Henry Buck.

During the social hour which followed, spirited quoit tournaments were enjoyed by a number of the men.

Exchange Club Holds Annual Installation

Bangor—Markley Reichard was installed as president of the Exchange club at a dinner meeting at the Bangor house last night.

Also installed by District Governor Horace G. Walters, of East Stroudsburg, were Millard Gleim, secretary; Earl Kressler, treasurer, and board of control members, John Hopper, Miles Heller, Roderick Everett.

Unable to attend, Armon Williams, first vice president, and Jay Sleep, second vice president, will be installed later.

Retiring President Clarence J. Brown was presented with a past president's pin by Arnold Wynne.

Carl T. Secor, supervising principal of East Stroudsburg public schools, served as guest speaker.

His address, "Winning the Race," was based upon the apostle Paul's exhortation to the Hebrews concerning life's contest.

Announcement of events at the Exchange club's new farm show building included agricultural motion pictures for today at 7:30 p. m.; Friday night's free dance for teenagers with Bernie Parsons and his orchestra; a series of weekly square dances open to the public and on May 8 the club's anniversary dinner.

Invocation was given by Harvey J. Miller. William Brown was welcomed as a new member and served as songleader with Robert Cathcart at the piano.

Store Entertains 50-Year Customers At Dinner-Party

E. H. Wyckoff, president of the A. B. Wyckoff, Inc., now in the midst of a 76th anniversary of continuous service operation in this region, was host to over 140 fifty-year customers at a dinner and party in tea-room of the store this week.

The occasion was the annual get-together of friends who have shopped in the store for 50 or more years. Mr. Wyckoff, after greeting all those present and presenting boxes of candy to all over 80 years of age, turned the meeting over to his son, E. Holt Wyckoff Jr.

He presented an interesting program which took the audience back to the old days of store operation. Many of those present responded to the request of Mr. Wyckoff to give their recollections of past years.

Jo-Jo the clown who is at the store this week entertained the guests with accordion music and balloon making tricks.

Dorothy Dunn and Douglas Gordon played dinner music. Group singing was led by a chorus of store employes. Dorothy Dunn was chairman of the entertainment committee.

The chorus, attired in old fashioned costumes, included: Cora Albertson, Betty Fisher, Lucy Demetriou, Pauline Marsh, Lester Kise, Fran Meredith, Pete Wyckoff.

The Spirit of '76 boy in costume, marched to drum music in the tea-room to initiate the program. This group included Baron Rinehart, Howard E. Altemus, Jerry Hinton and Dick Spragle.

McCluskey Explains Donation Meant For Cancer Patients

In an effort to clear up what he termed "a popular misconception," J. Joseph McCluskey, campaign chairman for the 1951 Monroe County Cancer Crusade, last night explained that $200 recently donated to the Monroe County Nursing Service by the Cancer group "will be used exclusively for treatment of cancer patients in Monroe county."

McCluskey added that he learned yesterday that a number of persons are under the impression that the $200 grant was an outright gift to the nursing service.

The cancer crusade chairman said he has conferred with C. Edward DePue, who heads the nurse service group. DePue assured him, he said, that the nursing service was aware of the cancer patient stipulation when they accepted the gift as a token of cooperation between the two welfare groups.

In order to clarify the situation, McCluskey announced that the money will be used by the nursing service for treatment of any cancer cases found in the county.

New Teaching Methods Aired

Stroudsburg teachers yesterday discussed the importance of new and changing methods of instruction during their bi-monthly in-service meeting in the high school.

The importance of activities in schools today was stressed as a means of teaching children to be free and to utilize their freedom. This constructive influence is far greater than the average layman realizes, teachers pointed out.

In a discussion of teaching techniques it was brought out that "the way we were taught is not necessarily the only way and what we were taught does not necessarily apply today."

Teachers stressed the problems of teaching children at their own level. This is made difficult at times, they stated, because there are several groups within one class, "and must be taught and all have needs."

Dr. Lawrence Parks, professor of education at Pennsylvania State College, led the discussion. The values of group work to the individual, he pointed out are:

Increased self-respect, increased contribution of ideas, increased interest in subject matter, increased participation and better preparation in all areas.

The next meeting is planned for Wednesday, May 9, at 3 p. m.

Beef Supply Dwindles At Retail Level

A threatened shortage of beef reported in many nearby sections of the State may have its impact here in the near future, a veteran retailer cinfirmed yesterday.

The retailer said "we are not getting as much as we'd like to, but we're getting along."

First impact of the apparent shortage was felt in regional warehouses of the big wholesale centers serving this region. Some of these establishments in nearby Luzerne and Lackawanna counties were the first to disclose the beef shortage.

The retailer said here yesterday he knows there is plenty of beef available in the nation, but slaughtering of beef has slowed sharply.

Reason for this, he said, is that the Office of Price Stabilization has applied ceilings on beef at wholesale and retail levels, but not at the producer level.

Big packers are therefore curtailing beef traffic until such time as producers' price controls provide a more equalitable price situation.

Large institutional buyers were among the first to be hit by the slow-down in beef deliveries. They include such establishments as colleges, hospitals, etc.

Apparently beef now flowing to the retail buyer is what is made available by limited slaughtering operations and what has been in storage before the pinch on price between producers and packers put a crimp in normal operations.

Retailers here indicated the situation might worsen here unless OPS acts to eliminate the price ceiling upset.

Radio, TV Awards Go To Kintner

Robert E. Kintner, president of American Broadcasting Co. and Pocono Mountains' Pennsylvania ambassador, will receive a special George Foster Peabody award today as the network's programs captured top honors in the annual presentation of radio and television awards and a third program was designated as one of the best in its field.

Mr. Kintner, a native of Stroudsburg, will receive in addition to special award, the Peabody award in the field of reporting and interpretation of the news made by Elmer Davis. ABC's broadcasts and telecast of the Metropolitan Opera and the ABC-TV Saturday at the Zoo received a joint Peabody award.

The special award to Mr. Kintner and the company was made for the courageous stand made in resisting pressures and "for reaffirmation of basic American principles."

Chief basis for this award was the refusal by ABC, under Mr. Kintner's leadership, to bar an entertainer from the air on the basis of unsubstantiated charges that she was a Communist sympathizer. The network's decision was widely acclaimed by editorials and commentators throughout the country.

History Units Will Convene

Arrangements for the affair have been made under the supervision of Raymond P. Harding, Stroudsburg High school history teacher and adviser to the school's Historical society.

This was considered a timely topic by the district advisory board in view of the coming State convention of Junior Historical societies, when students will work on drafts for a new constitution for the Commonwealth.

Registration will begin at 9 a. m. and the program will get underway at 10 a. m. Luncheon will be served in the college dining room at 1:15 p. m.

The afternoon session will begin at 2 p. m. At that time clubs will report on their activities and election of officers will be held.

Attendance Contest Ends With Banquet

Bartonsville—Stroudsburg Lions club, meeting on Tuesday night at Bartonsville Inn, featured the aftermath of the recent attendance contest. The winning team, captained by Jack Kitchen, proved considerate of their defeated fellow members, headed by Jim Somers and the only penalty imposed was that each loser was obliged to pay for his dinner and donate an extra dollar to the club's Christmas toy fund.

The losing team sang the "Roar Lions" song in tribute to their conquerors. The club discovered new oratorical ability, as a result of the persiflage that marked the meeting. Attendance Chairman William Thomas and Captains Kitchen and Somers were called on for remarks, and responded with excellent impromptu addresses.

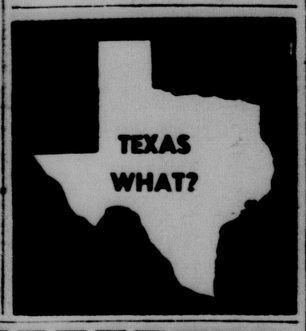

Irvin Jollosky was obligated into Lionism by Dr. James Gavin and was welcomed into the club.

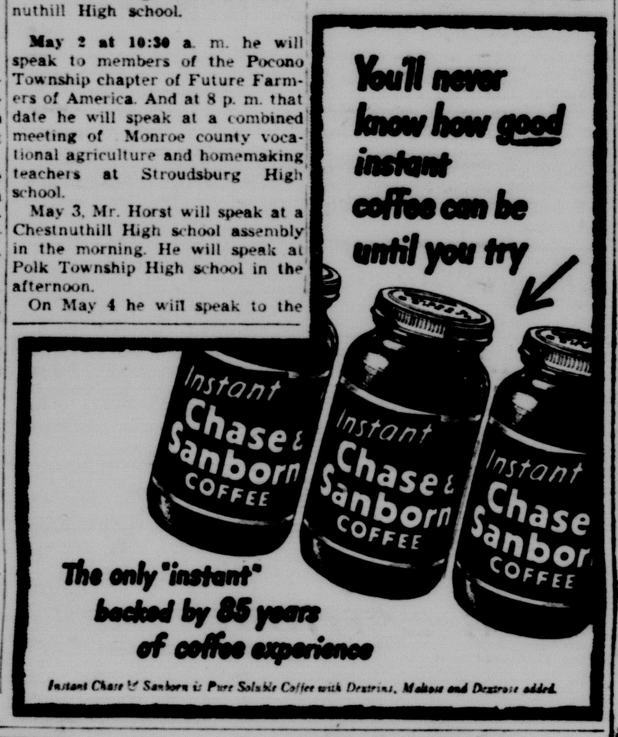

Deputy District Governor Elton Hall spoke on the plans for the State convention and recommended that the club purchase hospitality books for each of the nine duly-elected delegates.

Seymour Katz reported on the plans for the coming wrestling match, to be held under Lions auspices at the gymnasium of the East Stroudsburg High school, Thursday night, May 17, at 8:30. He announced that the tickets would be placed on sale today and that the promoter, Alfred Aceto of Philadelphia, has assured the club of a much better bill than the one provided in December, which was a popular event.

He said, that the places where tickets will be on sale will be listed promptly.

President Deering reported on the coming showing of the King Brothers three-ring circus, which will perform under Lions auspices at the old Stroud Ball park, East Stroudsburg, on Thursday, June 14.

That full tank of gasoline will cost more than most telephone subscribers pay for a full month of telephone service.

We buy gasoline, too, and our 3,500 trucks and cars guzzle it every hour of every day. The costs of everything we buy have been going up and up, just like the costs of everything you buy.

This isn't the fault of those we buy from. It's the fault of the dollar. In terms of what it will buy, the dollar is worth less today than ever before.

But telephone service, in relation to almost anything you can name, stays high in value and low in cost. It has never been so valuable to so many people as it is today.

12 Old Timers Honored Guests Of Kiwanis Club

Old Timers' day was observed at the meeting of the Kiwanis club of Stroudsburg at the Penn-Stroud hotel yesterday afternoon when 12 special guests were welcomed. They had been charter members, or, among the earliest to affiliate with the club, but are no longer enrolled.

The program committee was composed of A. L. Helmes, M. H. Evans and R. A. Bixler, with Mr. Evans presiding. He welcomed the guests, whom he said had helped build the foundation of the club 29 years ago.

The secretary, A. F. Everitt, a charter member, presented the guests as follows: S. J. VanVliet, Charles T. Miller, Fred F. Christine, Paul Mansfield, J. Frank Dreher, second secretary of the club, and Rev. Dr. F. L. Eichner, Philadelphia, the fourth president, and only one to have held the office two terms, all charter members.

Also B. Taylor Lacey, aged 85 years, former president and lieutenant governor; Lester E. Lord, member at Hazleton, who also filled the above offices in the local club; Fred Mick, Horce H. Heller, A. E. Engelhardt and Charles B. Hartman, among the earliest members to affiliate with the club. Rev. R. H. Feltham, charter member, gave the invocation.

Chester H. Rhodes, president judge of the State Superior court, charter member, first vice president and second president of the club, also extended a welcome to the special guests and presented Dr. Eichner who recalled his connection with the club, the warm spot it left in his heart, and recalled numerous incidents.

There were also brief remarks by Messrs. Dreher, Lacey, Lord, Feltham and also F. S. LaBar, former president and lieutenant governor, and State Sen. M. F. Crowe, who is also a former president of the club, now on the honorary roll.

Charter members still holding active membership, all of whom were present were: Mr. Everitt, Mr. Feltham, A. M. Price, V. M. Reynolds, H. T. Rinker, F. L. Stackhouse (last two former presidents) and A. J. Zabriskie.

C. B. Altemose, charter member, with a break in his enrollment was also present.

The Stroudsburg club has been honored by having three past presidents elevated to the divisional lieutenant governorship. At least 25 of the original charter members have died.

Gilbert L. Smrz, vice president, presided in the absence of President Harold W. Leininger. He welcomed Norman A. Wangman back to the club after a siege of illness which included surgery, and J. P. Rawson, Scranton Kiwanian.

A beautiful floral bouquet graced the head table and the honored guests were presented with yellow rosebuds.

Wimer Sees Hopes For World Peace

Nazareth—Kurt Wimer, professor at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, expressed the hope before 100 members of the Lions club here this week that Korea may yet provide the chance for reconstruction of World peace and not a third world war.

Mr. Wimer's theme was "Can the U. N. Secure Peace". He reviewed the history of the United Nations, stressing the vast amount of extremely valuable work done by its councils, committees and commissions.

The speaker referred to the helplessness of the Security Council because of the veto, one of the major reasons for shift of action to the veto-less General Assembly.

He traced the results of the Korea impact on the international scene and emphasized that it had brought relationship between large and small nations into the limelight of important U. N. deliberations.

Motor Club Schedules Annual Meeting Next Monday Night

The annual meeting of the Monroe County Automobile club will be held in the ballroom of the Penn-Stroud hotel next Monday at 8 p. m. All members of the club and others interested in motor activities are invited to attend.

There will definitely be a representative of the Pennsylvania Highway department in attendance who will outline the highway program. The bottleneck in the Delaware Water Gap gorge will be brought to his attention, it was stated yesterday.

Ralph Young, Harrisburg, assistant manager of the Pennsylvania Motor federation, and assistant sales manager of the American Automobile association, will also be heard.

George C. Lowe, of Philadelphia, director of traffic safety education of the Atlantic Refining Co., will bring a timely message on safety.

In addition, the president, two vice presidents and eight members of the Board of Governors of the club will be elected.

Success Marks First Cooking School Session

The first of a series of four Daily Record Cooking Schools yesterday morning attracted hundreds of women from all sections of Monroe county. The highly successful first session will be followed by three more every other Wednesday morning. Once again school awards attracted major interest.

The next session, again directed by Pennsylvania Power & Light Company's capable and charming home economists, Miss Grace Shankweiler and Miss Katherine Guldin, will be held on May 9. Others will occur on the mornings of May 23 and June 9.

The innovation of two home economists this year provided the means of packing many additional cooking, baking and general housekeeping tips into every minute of the session which opened at 9:30 a. m. Merle C. Ostrom, general manager; L. H. Cross, advertising manager and Don Rayburn, classified manager, assisted in the first session.

Howard Atwell, staff announcer from Radio Station WVPO, was master of ceremonies.

Throughout yesterday's session and in succeeding ones the theme centered around economical preparation of foods in the face of high cost food budgets. Completely informal, the demonstration sessions and lecture attracted wide-spread audience responsiveness.

One dozen generous market bags were among the awards. They contained one can each of the following Flagstaff products: Blended juice, tomato juice, cranberry sauce, fruit cocktail, sliced peaches, red kidney beans, sliced beets, little gem peas, Sauer kraut, pork and beans, apple sauce, iodized salt; also Spaulding bread and cake and a quart of Monroe County Co-Op Dairy Milk. Recipients were:

Car Returned To Its Owner

A light late model sedan, recovered in East Stroudsburg last Thursday night, has been returned to its New York city owner.

Officer Edward M. Harloe, of the east borough police department, said yesterday that representatives of an insurance company claimed the vehicle late Tuesday and removed it to New York.

Stolen in New York a week ago, it was the property of T. D. Waldman.

The vehicle was recovered on Grandview Ave., East Stroudsburg, after Officer Harloe received a call from residents there, advising him that the vehicle was mired on soft earth on an embankment and that three youthful occupants had left the scene.

The juveniles, all 14 years of age and from New York were picked up several hours later in the east borough business section. They were held here until Friday night when they were released in custody of their parents.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your keynumber. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Young GOP Lays Plans For Election

Executive committee of the Young Republicans of Monroe county this week completed plans for reorganization, outlined future events and discussed general plans for participation in this year's strategic county election.

Dr. Carolyn Toewe, acting chairman of the group, conducted the meeting.

Two officers were appointed to serve until the regular election in September. They are Walter Hewlings, treasurer and Marie Cody, secretary.

An amendment to the constitution will be presented at the next meeting calling for election of officers annually instead of every two years.

Dr. Toewe, Marie Cody and Ray Price will represent the organization at the Southwest regional conference of Pennsylvania Federation of Young Republican Clubs in Johnstown, Pa., on Saturday.

K. L. Shirk will be speaker at opening conference in Fort Stanwix hotel. A general conference will ensue to be followed by congressional district conferences attended by congressmen who will discuss Young Republican activities on the county level. A reception will be followed at night by a dinner and dance.

H. B. Calkins Is Married In Carlisle

Hiram Burchard Calkins Jr., son of Mrs. Hiram B. Calkins and the late Mr. Calkins of Philadelphia and Canadensis took as his bride Miss Dorothea Louise Kemper, daughter of Mrs. Clare Kemper and Harvey Kemper of Carlisle, Pa., on Saturday afternoon, April 14, at 4:30 p. m. in the Grace Evangelical United Brethren church in Carlisle.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Simpson B. Daugherty. Mr. Kemper gave his daughter in marriage. Caroline Nolan gave an organ recital before the ceremony and Mrs. Simpson B. Daugherty sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride wore a suit of cream beige gabardine. The blouse, of matching tone, had a collar and inserts of ecru Venice lace. Her small hat of natural grasscloth was banded in brown velvet and dark-centered yellow daisies. She carried a white Bible with narrow brown ribbon markers and bronze orchids.

Mrs. Paul Stringfellow who attended the bride as matron of honor, wore a suit of skipper blue gabardine with a small white Milan hat accented with blue velvet ribbon and brilliant ornaments. Her corsage was of pink rosebuds and stephanotis.

Mrs. Kemper, the bride's mother, wore a suit of gray beige gabardine, a small hat composed entirely of white lilacs and a corsage of stephanotis. Mrs. Calkins, the bridegroom's mother wore a gown of dusty rose with a small brown straw hat and brown accessories. Her corsage was of Talisman roses.

Frederick H. Calkins II, of Canadensis served his brother as best man, and the ushers were Charles Kruger and Paul Stringfellow, of Carlisle.

Following the ceremony, a dinner for the immediate families was held at the Molly Pitcher hotel in Carlisle.

The bride is a graduate of Carlisle High school and is employed at James Lees and Sons. Mr. Calkins is a graduate of Barrett High school, Canadensis, the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania. He also attended Dickinson Law school of Dickinson College in Carlisle and is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

He served 33 months in the U. S. Army Air Corps during World War Two, and is employed as assistant manager and sales director of the Kruger Ice Cream Dairy Products in Carlisle.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding included Mrs. Frederick H. Calkins, Mrs. Sue C. Price, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Nagle, of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Wiener, of Kingston, Miss Jacqueline Ebling, of Buck Hill Falls and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vander of Baltimore, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Calkins will be at home after April 23, at 239 West Louther St., in Carlisle.

Spring Comes To Patients

Spring was brought into the rooms of the General hospital yesterday when the members of the hospital committee of the Monroe County Garden club prepared miniature bouquets for the patients' trays, in which they used forsythia, pansies, violets and greens.

The bouquet were arranged by Mrs. David Shiffer, Mrs. Elwood Grant, and Mrs. A. Starr Phelps.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Sort of wonder how Eleanor Wunder managed to work in dinner last night with her husband performing one wedding at the parsonage at 6 and another at the church at 7.

Be sort of dangerous ever to plan to have sauer kraut or boiled cabbage, if you were a minister's wife, it seems. And what about spring housecleaning?

Well, there are tricks to all trades, I suppose, and the men you see mincing around town today are probably Kiwanians practicing up on the trick of walking like a model. That fashion show tonight should be something for the memory book.

And speaking of memory books, might be nice to take yesterday's weather and press it in the bigget dictionary just to remember for the next snow storm. Everybody had a big dose of spring fever.

Prior to the wedding Durrel Mader, baritone soloist of Christ Episcopal church, sang "Because" and "Ich Liebe Dich," and "The Lord's Prayer," by Malotte, during the wedding prayers as the bridal couple knelt before the altar. The candle-lit altar was graced with white calla lilies. A white aisled runner reached from the narthex to the altar.

Parents Urged To Hear Talk

A strong appeal was issue yesterday by the entire teaching corps of Stroudsburg school system to all members of the community to attend a May 14 meeting at the high school when Dr. Chester McNerney, Penn State College, will discuss "Modern Educational Trends."

Noting that a discussion panel will follow the lecture, the teachers said the meeting will be a thought-provoking session of such major importance that "it is the responsibility of every community member to attend."

Speaking for the teacher corps, Anna M. Stem said:

The time demands careful thinking. Our democratic faith must become rooted in our schools in a cooperative planning for study, and for recreation.

The members of our community must help with their interest and their cooperative efforts for the improvement of our educational staff and institutions.

"We must all analyze and evaluate educational endeavors and then cooperate for their fulfillment. Only with sincere endeavor of all working together will we be able to cope intelligently with and preserve our future."

Dr. McNerney's address will help point the way to better understanding and a greater cooperative effort on behalf of the school system, the teacher spokesman said.

Tanker Laden With Fuel Oil Bounds Off Road, Hits Culvert, Plows Into Lawn; $6,000 Loss

Wind Gap — A tractor-trailer tanker unit loaded with fuel oil was listing at a precariously 40-degree angle near a Route 115 culvert two miles north of here early last night, after the big transport went out of control and hurtled a concrete culvert, causing damages in excess of $6,000.

State police of the Brodheadsville State police said they were waiting for a pumper apparatus to come here from Lancaster to drain the tipped tank before heavy wrecking equipment drags the damaged auto tractor and trailer back to the highway.

According to Harry Robbins, 38, of Maple Hall apartments, Graterford, there is little danger of an explosion because of the high kindling point of the fuel oil.

Robbins was driving the double unit northward on Route 115 at 2:45 p. m. yesterday when the big vehicle went out of control on the downhill curve near the property of A. Janda.

Robbins told Brodheadsville troopers that he rounded the right curve to find the transport bearing down on a slower moving truck. Robbins said he immediately applied pressure to the brake levers, but found a malfunction in the air system left him with no brakes at all.

To avoid hitting the truck ahead, he pulled to the left, but the loaded transport gained momentum, and he was unable to control it on the turn after pulling into the opposite traffic lane.

The big tanker bounced to the left shoulder of the highway, then swerved completely off, hitting the concrete culvert and then plowing into the lawn of the Janda property.

Several bushes and shrubs were uprooted and the Janda mailbox and a barber pole were snapped off before the tractor was stopped.

Police said the undercarriage of both tractor and trailer was damaged to the extent of $6,000 as the runaway hit the upright concrete at the culvert. Estimate of property damage to the Janda lawn and shrubbery was not available last night.

The tractor-trailer is registered as the property of Tank Trunk Rentals, Inc., Manheim Pike, Lancaster RD 1.

Investigating troopers said they anticipate no great difficulty once the off-balance tank is pumped dry, but safety precautions were taken to protect those as the runaway hit the upright at the scene.

The modeling will be done through a sequence of scenes, based on preparations for attending a big Kiwanis convention when all the garments, luggage and accessories necessary for the trip will be displayed. There are many surprises, plenty of comedy and good music.

Proceeds are for the education fund of the club. Tickets may be procured today at Kresge's drug store, East Stroudsburg, and Rea-Derick's, Stroudsburg, or at the box office of the auditorium tonight.

One Surprise Featured In Amateur Golf

Pinehurst, N. C. (AP)— Charlotte DeCozen of Parsippany, N. J., upset the parade of winning favorites yesterday by eliminating Curtis Cup star Dorothy Kielty of Los Angeles, one up, in the only eyebrow raiser of the North and South Amateur Golf tournament's second round.

The unheralded New Jersey girl played after having her left arm shot full of novocain to relieve an arthritic condition. In addition, she had the handicap of a sore back. After spotting Miss Kielty the first hole on a birdie three, she dug in and made a tight match of it all the way. She closed the veteran coast star with a winning par four on the eighteenth.

Meanwhile, medalist Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., and defending champion Pat O'Sullivan of Orange, Conn., and neighboring Southern Pines, led the upper bracket contingent safely through the round to advance to a quarter-final meeting today.

Results

Miss Faulk won from Grace Lenczyk, Hartford, Conn., two and one, and Miss O'Sullivan, two down after seven holes, birdied the first three holes coming back and went on to eliminate Carol Diringer of Tiffin, Ohio, and Southern Pines, four and three.

The other upper bracket quarter finalists will be Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore and Marjorie Lindsay of Decatur, Ill. Miss Downey spanked Jean Hopkins, the tall girl from Lakewood, Ohio, five and four, and long-hitting Miss Lindsay overpowered Mrs. Sarah Mellick of New York Ciy, nine and seven.

Miss DeCozen's victory over Miss Kielty sends her against another tough veteran tomorrow, Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill, N. C.

The former National champion, seven times a winner here, romped over another Tar Heel, Marjorie Burns of Greensboro, with surprising ease, six and five.

Mae Murray, of Rutland, Vt., National runnerup last year, and the beauty of the field, Mrs. Catherine Fox Park of Bloomfield, N. J., won the other matches of the day. Miss Murray was carried all the way to the final green before winning a one up decision over Mrs. Holbrook Platt of Pinehurst. Mrs. Park gained her place opposite Miss Murray by winning, three and two, from Sonia Wise, York, Pa.

Chisox Divide With Browns

Chicago (AP)—The Chicago White Sox divided a double header with the St. Louis Browns here yesterday, winning the opener 8-6 and dropping the nightcap 7-4 in a contest played under the lights from the second inning on.

The defeat in the second tilt was the first suffered by the White Sox at the hands of the St. Louisans in 13 meetings this year. They whipped the Brownies nine straight in spring exhibitions.

Rally Saves St. Louis

The Browns captured the nightcap with a three-run rally in the ninth off Marv Rotblatt and Harry Dorish. Ray Coleman blasted his second homer of the season into the right field stands and Al Moss and Johnny Bero doubled to rout Rotblatt. Ned Garver greeted Dorish with a single that tallied Bero.

Garver relieved Dick Starr during a three-run uprising with which the White Sox tied the score at 4-4 in the seventh. It was his second victory of the season. Joe Dobson, making his starting debut for the Comiskeys, yielded only four hits in seven innings. However, a speel of wildness enabled the Brownies to nudge him for four runs when they mixed two timely hits with four walks in the fifth.

Four Homers Clouted

Al Zarilla, Eddie Robinson, Ken Wood and Jim Delsing hammered homers in the opener. The game was deadlocked three times at 2-2, 4-4 and 6-6. The White six snapped the final tie with a two run rally in the seventh.

Jim Busby singled, stole second and scored on Nelly Fox's double. The latter moved up on an error and counted on Floyd Baker's fly.

Baseball Reserve Clause Under Court Attack Again

New York, (AP)—Baseball's controversial reserve clause is under attack again.

Already busy defending itself against a suit instituted 11 days ago by Jack Corbett and the El Paso baseball club in the U. S. District Court in Cincinnati, baseball yesterday faced another suit by Jim Prendergast, a former major league pitcher.

Prendergast, 33-year-old Syracuse righthander who was traded to Beaumont but refused to report, said he would file suit for $150,000 damages against the Syracuse club of the International league. In it, he will charge that the reserve clause is monopolistic and violates anti-trust laws.

The pitcher, who once was the property of Cincinnati and the Boston Braves, has retained Frederic Johnson, attorney for Danny Gardella in a similar suit against organized baseball, to take action for him. Attorneys William A. Kunstler and Michael Kunstler also will handle the case for him. The Gardella case was settled out of court.

Corbett is suing for $300,000 damages from baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler and George M. Trautman, head of the Minor leagues. Corbett claimed in his suit that Chandler and Trautman acted illegally in voiding contracts his El Paso club had with seven players signed from the Mexican league. In his complaint, Corbett charged that Chandler had no authority to enter into an agreement with the Mexican league by which American clubs were forbidden to sign players under contract to Mexican teams.

Poor Record

Prendergast was traded by Syracuse to Beaumont of the Texas league after he had declined to accept a pay cut. The pitcher had a 6-14 record with Syracuse last year.

In Buffalo, Gene Martin, General Manager of the Syracuse Chiefs, when informed of Prendergast's announcement, said:

"I don't have any comment to make. I don't know anything about it."

Martin said Prendergast's contract was assigned to Beaumont of the Texas league with a condition that the pitcher be retained there 30 days on a trial basis. The Chiefs were to get Ralph Buxton, a relief hurler, in exchange.

"There's nothing unusual in the way his contract was being handled," said Martin. "He won six and lost 14 last year. He also was a losing pitcher the year before."

The reserve clause binds a player to on particular club until such time as the club either transfers or cancels his contract.

Jethroe Homer Defeats Dodgers

Brooklyn (AP)—Sam Jethroe's ninth inning homer with one on and two out gave the Boston Braves a 6 to 5 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers at Ebbets field last night.

Brooklyn had taken a 5-4 lead in the eighth when Jackie Robinson, apparently caught in a rundown, was allowed to score from third after the umpires had ruled interference on the part of Walker Cooper, Boston catcher.

Shea Hurls Yanks To Second Straight Shutout Over A's

New York, (AP)—Frank "Spec" Shea, erstwhile sore-armed righthander, took a long step forward on the comeback road yesterday by pitching the New York Yankees to a four-hit 4-0 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics. The shutout was the A's second in succession and the defeat their sixth in a row.

The Yankees were held to seven hits by Lefty Alex Kellner but benefitted from half a dozen walks. They picked up a run in the second inning, two more in the fourth and gained their final tally in the fifth.

The victory was Shea's first in the majors in nearly two years.

Philadelphia loaded the bases three times, in the second, third and fifth, due to Shea's wildness, but all the runners were left stranded.

Big Gun

Billy Johnson, third sacker, figured in all the Yankee rallies. He got a single, double and walk in four times at bat, drove in a run and scored another.

Arthur MacArthur, son of the general, saw the game from a field box. He was presented with a Yankee baseball cap and an autographed baseball. Casey Stengel, Yankee manager who was released from Lenox Hill hospital this morning, came to the park to pick up some personal effects. He did not remain for the game but said he would be on hand today when the champs begin a two-game series with the Red Sox in Boston.

Wally Moses, 41-year-old Philadelphia outfielder, also missed the game. Moses was sent home to have his bruised right wrist X-rayed. A blood vessel in the wrist popped after a pitch by Ed Lopat hit him in the third inning of Tuesday's game, which the Yanks won, 3-0.

Pro Basketball League Drafts College Aces

New York (AP)— Eighty-six college basketball stars, headed by all-Americas Gene Melchiorre and Sam Ranzino, were drafted yesterday by the ten teams in the National Basketball association.

Melchiorre, a five foot, eight inch ball of fire from Bradley, was the number one pick of Baltimore, which had first choice in the regular draft. Ranzino, tenth-ranking scorer among the major colleges last season, was the number one selection of the Rochester Royals, league champions.

Other first choices were:

Tri-Cities, Mel Hutchins, Brigham Young; Indianapolis, Marcus Freiberger, Oklahoma; Fort Wayne, Zeke Sinicola, Niagara; Syracuse, John McConathy, Northwest Louisiana; New York, Ed Smith, Harvard.

Boston, Ernie Barrett, Kansas State; Philadelphia, Don Sunderlage, Illinois; Minneapolis, Meyer "Whitey" Skoog, Minnesota.

Juniors

The three other members of the Associated Press' All-America, Kentucky's Bill Spivey, Kansas' Clyde Lovellette and Temple's Bill Mlkvy, are juniors and could not be drafted.

Hutchins was the most valuable player in the annual east-west college all-star game while Sunderlage was the Big Ten's most valuable player. Hutchins' teammate, Roland Minson, was picked by the New York Knicks. Minson was named most valuable in the National Invitation tournament.

Cards Slide Into Lead

St. Louis (AP)—Rookie Tom Poholsky, aided by good defensive work, hurled the St. Louis Cardinals to a 4 to 0 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates last night. The young righthander gave up two hits and two walks. Enos Slaughter homered in the sixth for one of the Redbird Tallies.

The victory boosted the Redbirds to first place in the quick-changing national league standings as both the Chicago Cubs and Brooklyn Dodgers lost last night.

Shuts Out Pirates

Poholsky retired the last 19 men to face him.

George Metkovich singled to right-center and Ralph Kiner walked in the first inning. In the second it was one-two-three for Pittsburgh.

Losing pitcher Cliff Chambers knocked the other Pirate hit as he opened the third. A double-play killed that threat. Metkovich was safe on Steve Bilko's error and Gus Bell walked—and they were the last of the visitors to see base. Pinchhitter Ted Beard made a good try to spoil Poholsky's work but Stan Musial was right on the ball with a one-handed catch.

St. Louis added another run for good measure in the eighth against relief hurler Joe Muir.

Derby Picture Becomes More Confused With Record Entry List For Blue Grass Stakes

Lexington, Ky., (AP)—The muddled Kentucky Derby picture became even more confused yesterday when a record 15 entries forced today's running of Keeneland's Blue Grass Stakes into two divisions.

The mile and one-eighth test for three-year-olds, all of them eligible for the Derby at Churchill Downs May 5, will carry its $25,000-added value in each division.

Phillies Sweep Series From Sliding Giants

Philadelphia (AP)— The Philadelphia Phils made good use of all but one of their five hits yesterday to defeat the New York Giants, 2-1, and sweep the three-game series between the two National league contenders. The loss was the seventh in a row for the slumping New Yorkers.

Kenny Heintzelman, crafty lefthander, yielded eight hits and walked six, but was superb in the pinches, leaving a dozen Giant runners stranded on the basepaths. Twice the Giants loaded the bases with only one out, but the veteran Heintzelman escaped each time without a score against him.

Advantage

On the other hand, the Phils took advantage of their few opportunities to score, as loser Larry Jansen surrendered only five hits and did not issue a walk. Only two Phils were left on bases.

Rickie Ashburn and Granny Hamner batted in the Philly runs. Ashburn singled home Eddie Waitkus after the Philliy first baseman led off the first inning with a double. Hamner's two-bagger in the fourth followed a single by Del Ennis put the Phils in front, 2-0.

The Giants' lone run came in the seventh. Wes Westrum coaxed a walk and raced to third on a single by Clint Hartung. Jack Maguire, who ran for Westrum, crossed the plate when pinch hitter Ray Noble flied deep to right.

Pittston—Bernie Clemens, East Stroudsburg, will be among the entries in the 1951 inauguration of spectacular stock car racing here at the Bone Stadium Speedway on Sunday, at 2:30 p m. Thirty-six of the colorful entries have already signed to enter the grind and many more are expected to be on hand prior to starting time.

Interest

Interest has continued to grow in every community in the Wyoming Valley as owners prepare their sturdy stock racing automobiles for the inaugural derby. The more powerful cars and a number of new chauffeurs entered seem to have set the stage for a "bang up" speed show. Starting with the first of the three ten-lap heats and continuing through the two 15-lap semi-finals and the 12-lap consolation that will wind up in 25 laps of speed, spins and crashing action as over-anxious chauffeurs battle for the top derby honors and money.

Track officials decided following the heavy entry this morning to put up an additional $25,000, making the Blue Grass worth $50,000 this year for the first time and the richest purse ever given at the little non-profit Versailles Pike oval. This was the second time in Keeneland's history that a stakes will be run in divisions. The first was yesterday's Lafayette for two-year-olds, each division worth $10,000.

Top Weight

Assigned top-weight of 126 pounds in the seven-horse first division is W. C. Martin's Phil D., who drew number one post position. Woodvale Farm's Away Away, holding the number three slot, drew 123 pounds. The remainder got 121 pounds each. At the number two starting position will be W. M. Peavey's Anyoldtime, number six Reverie Knoll farm's Irish Flare, and number seven, Hal Price Headley's Jumbo.

The three considered by many as the most likely to succeed in the Blue Grass and the Derby are grouped in the first three post positions in the second division.

They are, from the rail, King Ranch's Sonic, who flew into Blue Grass airfield from New York Tuesday; Greentree's Big Stretch, and Mrs. Emil Denmark's Ruhe. Big Stretch received top weight of the eight-horse field, drawing 126 pounds while Sonic and Ruhe will be toting 123 each.

The remainder of the field, in order of post positions, includes Whitney's Counterpoint, J. Graham Brown's Snuzzle, Murlogg farm's Fighting Back, Peavey's Sir Bee Bum, and Sam E. Wilson Jr.'s Royal Mustang. All drew 121 pounds excepting Sir Bee Bum who was assigned 123.

Rival Teams To Clash In Pair Of Games

Baseball fans of Monroe County will be able to witness one of the best non-professional teams in this part of Pennsylvania at Gordon Giffels field on Sunday, when Riegel Ridge, N.J., stacks up against Pocono A.C. at the W. Main St. ball yard. The contest is scheduled to get underway at 2:30 p.m.

Riegel Ridge has supported a baseball team for many years and has an athletic setup along the Delaware that would put many towns double its size to shame. Although the locality is interested in several forms of athletics, the baseball team is the number one topic of conversation of all the residents.

The club finished third in the regular season flag race of the Tri-County League last year, but came fast to win the Governor's Cup in the post-season playoff series.

Riegel Ridge will be managed by Bob Weiss, veteran right handed hurler, who has pitched in the East Penn, Bi-State and Tri-County Leagues and at one time was the property of the Newark Bears. Art Cenci, who pitched in the North Atlantic League with both Nazareth and the Stroudsburg Poconos in 1947, is the other mainstay among the hurlers. Cenci is also right handed.

"Bub" Laubach, with Riegel Ridge since 1938, will hold down first base, while "Jeets" Gugliuzza, a veteran of five years with the same club, is scheduled to open the season at second base.

Familar Figure

Augie Fucci, with Easton, of the East Penn League, last year, will handle the shortstop duties. Fucci was a teammate of John Schoonover's at Easton during the 1950 campaign, Schoonover will manage Pocono A. C. this year. Jack Julian, former third baseman with Lafayette College and once the property of the Brooklyn Dodgers, will open his second season with Riegel Ridge at third base.

Tom Fleck, one of the three flychasers, is a veteran of the East Penn League, but has been with Riegel Ridge for five years. Charley Fleck, a brother, will also be starting his sixth season with Sunday's visitor, although he missed the greater portion of the 1950 campaign with a broken ankle. The final outfield berth will be handled by Vince Fucci, a graduate of West Chester State Teachers, who is starting his second season with Riegel Ridge.

Riegel Ridge's catching will be handled by Paul Rickenback, another West Chester graduate, who was once a member of the Philadelphia Phillies' farm system.

Pocono A. C. and Riegel Ridge clash on the latter's home field on Saturday, prior to making their appearance at Giffels field on Sunday. In both cases the games begin at 2:30.

Reds Stave Off Cubs, 4-3

Cincinnati, (AP) — Ted Kluszewski, who barely has been hitting his weight, clubbed out a two-run homer in the eighth inning last night to give Cincinnati its second National league victory of the season, a 4 to 3 decision over the Chicago Cubs.

Six of the seven runs scored in the game came as the direct result of home runs and the Reds wound up with three homers, two triples and a double and yet barely staggered in for their victory.

Blackwell Winner

Ewell Blackwell got credit for his first triumph of the season after coming in as a relief hurler.

Roy Smalley's homer drove in Bill Serena for the first two Cub runs. They got another on a walk, a double by Hank Sauer and a single by Phil Caveretta.

Reds Homer, too

Then the Reds started hitting home runs. Pinch hitter Connie Ryan and Joe Adcock each hit for the circuit in the fifth. Kluszewski's game winning wallop out of the park came after Adcock had singled in the eighth.

Middleweights Dominate Scranton Ring Card

Scranton — Ernie "The Rock" Durano, of Bayone, N.J., and Joe Giardello, of Philadelphia, will tangle in a ten round bout for the Anthracite A.C., here at the Watres Armory on Monday night. In all, there will be six bouts, with Promoter Ernie Genell planning to put on a well balanced show.

Durano only recently knocked out Joey DeJon, of Syracuse, in a Cleveland bout, and also boasts of having Rocky Castellani on the floor in a Madison Square Garden engagement. He's rated as one of the hardest hitting middleweights in the fisticuff business, and it is incidentally his first appearance before a crowd in the coal regions.

Tough Foe

Giardello, a promising middleweight out of the Quaker City, is coming along in such fine style that he's expected to be an excellent opponent for the hard hitting Durano. Giardello kayoed Tommy Varsos in one round, whereas it took Rocky Castellani eight rounds to bring the bout to an end. This leads to the belief that he can do some fine punching on his own account, and Durano will be in for the hardest kind of a fight.

There is a chance for either one of these boys to get some lucrative matches in the near future, on the basis of this fact, with Eugene "Silent" Hairston, the most likely opponent for either Durano or Giardello. Hairston is a big favorite in Scranton, and would not hesitate in meeting either Durano or Giardello, and this gives coal region fans a chance to look forward to another fine affair.

The first bout Monday night goes on at 8:30.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Baseball has arrived on the Monroe county scene once again, although the professional version has passed into a dormant stage, at least for this season. An amateur team has been formed to take its place and give the people of the Stroudsburgs the best type of baseball possible—that is if the fans of this locality show that they want the organization to operate. It takes money to make even an amateur club click and the money will find its way into the treasury only through good attendance.

The North Atlantic league, of which Stroudsburg was a member, decided to remain out of action for at least a year, due to the fact that the attendance figures dropped sharply during the 1950 season. However, a group of former Poconos and some of the other top flight diamond talent in Monroe county decided to form an amateur club this summer and apply for a franchise in the Blue Mountain league, in an effort to keep the great game alive in this locality.

A franchise was granted and some 17 players have been working out almost daily for the past two weeks in an effort to work themselves into top shape prior to the opening day of the season, a week from Sunday. However, included in the pre-season training program is a home-and-home exhibition series with Riegel Ridge, on Saturday and Sunday of this week. The two clubs will clash at Riegel Ridge on Saturday and then will fight a pitched battle at Gordon Giffels field on Sunday.

In an effort to sell the organization to the local fans, the outfit hit on the plan of admitting all fans free of charge on Sunday, giving each and every person in the locality the chance of seeing the club in action, regardless of whether pay day was all that it was cracked up to be or not. The only money involved in Sunday's contest will be that donated by the fans in a collection. As mentioned above even an amateur club must have money in the ol' sock to operate. The club must clear at the very least $10 per contest, as this is the amount charged for the rent of Gordon Giffels field, by the Stroudsburg school board.

The Blue Mountain league is the talk of the Slate Belt area, where a tremendous natural rivalry has been going on for years. West Bangor, Roseto and Portland are tremendous rivals, while Stockertown and Tatamy enjoy nothing better than knocking each other's head off. The setup is a real seven-come-eleven affair for Pocono A. C., as the nearness of Stroudsburg to the Slate Belt area should go together like milk and coffee. Bangor and Stroudsburg worked up a terrific rivalry last season when the North Atlantic league was still in operation and this writer fails to see why a similar situation can't prevail this season.

Pocono A. C. will be made up for the most part of former Poconos and this fact alone should prove an attraction to the area's baseball following. John Schoonover, one of Monroe county's most famous baseball figures, has been signed to manage the newly formed club this year and from this angle it appears as if a better selection couldn't possibly have been made. John who made his mark with Allentown, of the East Penn league, before joining the St. Louis Browns, has plenty of baseball horse sense and if possible, will have the local club in the thick of the race all season.

Schoonover pitched batting practice for two months for the Browns, then began a tour of the minor leagues and several season of semi-pro ball before taking over the job of managing the George N. Kemp American Legion Post team last year and his present position as field general of Pocono A. S. Schoonover and Frank Radler, who piloted the Poconos for the past three years, became fast friends in the minor leagues, when both played with Elizabethton, Tenn., of the Appalachian league. However, when Radler was with Kingsport, Tenn., of the same circuit, Schoonover and Frank opposed each other on the hill for the only time and Schoonover came up with a 1-0 victory.

Walt "Hank" Polinski, one of the all time favorites with the Poconos, will be on hand to hold down an outfield berth and serve as field captain. Dewey Martling, regular catcher with the Poconos in 1947, has been listed as the second baseman, while John Drews, who caught with the Stroudsburg club part of the 1947 campaign, will handle the receiving chores this year. Martling and Drews were once members of the New York Yankee farm system, advancing as far as Binghamton, Eastern league, and Newark, International league, respectively.

Bob Schick, with the Poconos in 1946 and 1947, will be in the outfield once again for the local nine, while Danny Eppley, who held down first base for the Poconos half of last season, will be back at his usual position. Don Sweda, a regular with the Poconos for the past three years, will hold down third base, while Chet Lucki, who has seen service with both Nazareth and the Poconos in the North Atlantic league, will be a member of the pitching staff, as will Russell "Lindy" Transue, who also pitched for the Poconos in 1948.

Such other well known local baseball talent as Clint Besecker and Doug Schoonover will be members of the club. Considering all angles, the organization that will make its initial local showing of the year on Sunday appears headed for a successful season, if the fans support the club and each player in turn gives his very best down the line. Both sides must cooperate to the limit if the 1951 campaign is to be a pleasant venture to all concerned.

ESSTC Diamond Squad Hampered By Injuries

Five Pitchers, Catchers Hit By Jinx

Coach Ed Shay is attempting to nurse his East Stroudsburg State Teachers College baseball team into top physical condition for Saturday's diamond battle with Wilkes College, to be played at Wilkes-Barre. However, the ESSTC mentor is having troubles with his mound corps and catching staffs at the present time.

Bill Herring, ace left hander from Newfoundland, is currently being bothered by an ailing throwing arm, while Gene Talgo, who hurled so brilliantly against Kings College in his only start this season, is troubled with an aching shoulder.

Jim Steidle, another right hander, is also on the shelf with an ailing arm.

Bad Fingers

However, as if an upset pitching staff wasn't enough, Shay is currently hampered by the uncertainly of his catching staff. Hobart "Hobe" Hutchins, first string receiver, is playing was a splintered finger on his throwing hand encased in a cast.

Joe Hricinak, second string receiver, is also handicaped with an injured finger, which occured in a crash with a fellow player while chasing a pop fly near the pitching mound last Wednesday, as the Warriors were going down to an 11-1 setback at the hands of Panzer, on the latter's home field.

However, Shay reported that the remainder of his club is in good condition and that he is hopeful of evening the season's record at two wins and the same number of defeats against Wilkes.

The Warriors are scheduled for two home games next week, meeting Kutztown on Tuesday and Rider on Wednesday, with both contests to be played on the Normal Hill field. The Kutztown contest was originally listed for Saturday, April 14, but was postponed by inclement weather.

Former Pitcher In Court Battle

Herkimer, N. Y. (AP)— A $100,000 negligence action against Hal Schumacher, former New York Giants pitcher, opened in State Supreme Court yesterday.

Injuries

Schumacher, now sales manager for McLaughlin-Millard Bat Co. of Dolgeville, is being sued by Mrs. Sophie Hymkus, 50, of that village. She seeks to recover for injuries allegedly suffered November 4, 1949, when she was struck by a car driven by Schumacher in Dolgeville's main street.

Championship Playoff

Monroe County League keglers will take part in the championship playoff tonight, when Butz's Texaco and Gem Lunch clash at Harmon's alleys. Butz's Texaco won first half honors, while Gem Lunch came through in the second half.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME — By JIMMY HATLO

Barrett Host To Pocono In Exhibition

Canadensis — Barrett and Pocono High schools will take part in an exhibition baseball game here this afternoon, on the former's home field. The contest is scheduled to get underway at 3.

Barrett took the measure of Greene-Dreher High, at Newfoundland, on Tuesday, by a 13-5 count. However, today's outing will be the first of the season for Pocono High, under the guidance of Coach Harry Werkheiser. Joe Murray will again be at the Barrett helm.

No Count

Today's contest in no way will count in the Monroe County League standings.

The circuit opens tomorrow with two games. The northern division will find Tobyhanna Township and Coolbaugh meeting at Coolbaugh, while Polk and Chestnuthill clash at Brodheadsville, in the southern division.

Baskwell, Owens Win

Bangor — Bob Baskwill defeated Bill Martin 21-18 and 21-18 in the first of two out-of-school matches held here at the Bee Hive Youth Center Tuesday night, as part of the fifth annual table tennis tournament. Martin won the tournament title last year.

The second match found Owen Owens taking the measure of LeRoy Hill, 21-10 and 21-15.
